From the Committee on Ways and Means as committed, House Bill No. 969, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 905), entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances, and legal claims; registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation and providing for refunds," as amended, by increasing certain registration fees.

From the Committee on Ways and Means as committed, House Bill No. 970, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 905), entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances, and legal claims; registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation and providing for refunds," as amended, by revising certain registration fees and revising existing regulations for length, height, and weight of certain vehicles.

From the Committee on Ways and Means as committed, House Bill No. 925, entitled:

An Act to provide revenue for State and county purposes, and, in cities coextensive with counties, for State and city and county purposes; imposing taxes upon certain classes of personal property; providing for the assessment, collection, and lien of the same, and the distribution of the proceeds thereof; imposing duties on executors, administrators, registers of wills, recorders of deeds, prothonotaries and court clerks, and on persons, copartnerships, associations, banks, national banks, trust companies, and other corporations receiving deposits of money, and on certain corporations and limited partnerships; conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments; imposing penalties; and making an appropriation.

CONSENT REQUESTED TO READ BILLS FIRST TIME

Mr. FURMAN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to have House Bills Nos. 843, 1128, 991, 992, 969, 970 and 925 read for the first time.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent for the reading of these bills for the first time. Is there objection?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I object.

RULES SUSPENDED

Mr. FURMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move the Rules of the House Nos. 14, 41 and 43 be suspended for the purpose of reading these bills for the first time.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, is it in order that the motion be made concerning more than one bill at a time?

The SPEAKER. The Chair, in answer to the question of parliamentary inquiry, believes that it is perfectly proper to make the motion for all of the bills at one and the same time.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Greene, Mr. Furman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Greene, Mr. Furman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FURMAN. Mr. Speaker. I will.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Greene whether any of the bills that have just been read are included in the bills upon which a public hearing has been fixed for Wednesday of this week.

Mr. FURMAN. Mr. Speaker, there are none.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask what is the answer.

Mr. FURMAN. Mr. Speaker, there have been hearings held on each of these bills that I ask to have read for the first time.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Witkin and Mr. Sowers and were as follows:

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, March 11, 1935.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

For many years the owners of real estate in this Commonwealth have been forced to bear the burden of crushing taxation on real estate.

Although 60 per cent of the wealth within our Commonwealth is in the form of stocks, bonds, and other personal property, 90 per cent of local taxation is derived from real estate.

When our present Constitution was adopted in 1874, real estate amounted to 90 per cent of the wealth, and should have borne that portion of the tax. There is no reason, however, why a situation which existed 60 years ago should crush our home owners and farmers today.

Today local communities collect $372,000,000 a year in taxation in Pennsylvania. Of that huge sum only $13,000,000 comes from taxation on personal income and wealth. The home owners, the farmers and the owners of real estate generally pay the other $359,000,000.

Unable to meet the unjust burden of real estate taxation which added its weight to the rigors of the depression, hundreds of thousands of our citizens have lost their homes and farms through wholesale foreclosures during the past five years.

This wholesale dispossession of our most solid class of citizens—the farmers and home owners—must cease. There is no greater contributing factor to radicalism and civil disorder than the loss of their homes and farms by the average citizens of our country.

For that reason alone, it is self-evident that taxation reform can't be delayed much longer.

Legislation must be enacted which will effect a fair shifting of some of the burden of taxation from real estate.

Such legislation must be enacted to make our people secure in their homes in a time of national emergency—to make it impossible for passing adversity to put our families on the street.

I am for the American principle of fair play—which means an honest distribution of the burden of taxation as between the rich and the poor.

The soundest tax is that based on the principle of the ability to pay.

I know of no fairer method to effect a redistribution of the present tax burden on real estate than by the adoption of a graduated income tax, with exemptions, the proceeds of which shall be devoted entirely to reducing the school tax on real estate in every local community in this Commonwealth.

It has been questioned whether our present Constitution permits the enactment of a graduated income tax with exemptions. The Supreme Court of this Commonwealth, upon passage of this bill, followed by our application, will immediately decide its legality.

There will be introduced in your Honorable Body tonight a bill imposing a graduated income tax with exemptions upon net incomes.

The bill provides for a levy of 2 per cent on incomes under $5,000, exclusive of exemptions; 2½ per cent on incomes in excess of $5,000 and not more than $10,000; 4 per cent on incomes in excess of $10,000 and not more than $50,000, and 6 per cent on incomes in excess of $50,000.

Exemptions are provided as follows: single taxpayers, $1,000; married taxpayers, or those who are heads of families, $1,500; and $400 for each dependent of the same household.

Generally speaking, the bill follows the Federal Income Tax Law in the method of determining gross and net income. With a few exceptions, deductions allowed under the Federal Law are permitted. No distinction is made, however, between earned and unearned income. There is no surtax.

Returns and payments of tax are required to be made to the Department of Revenue by all taxpayers on or before March 15 of every year for the preceding year.

The first returns and payments will be made March 15, 1936, and will include all income for the year 1935.

It is estimated by the Department of Revenue that the proposed income tax will yield $20,000,000 annually.

The entire proceeds of the tax, with the exception of administrative costs, are distributed to the school districts of the State, on the basis of population, for the express purpose of relieving real estate of a part of its present heavy tax load for school purposes.

Disbursements to the districts from the proceeds of this tax will be in addition to school subsidies already provided by the State under the provision of existing law.

The bill provides that only those districts making a bona fide effort to reduce real estate taxation, at least to the extent of their share in the revenue resulting from the bill, are entitled to participate in the distribution of the proceeds of the tax.

This proposed income tax is not an additional tax on the people of Pennsylvania.

It is merely shifting, in part, of the burden of taxation from the shoulders of our home owners and farmers and real estate owners generally to income.

It will make a fairer redistribution of the cost of conducting the public schools of this Commonwealth.

Since all the proceeds of this income tax are ear-marked for local communities, in order that the school tax on real estate may be reduced; it must not be confused with the general taxation program of the Administration.

In closing, I want to stress the fact that, since this is a new and untried method of tax distribution in this State, a modest schedule is embodied in the proposed tax. Every precaution has been taken to guarantee that the entire proceeds of this tax will be used for the reduction of the school tax on real estate.

Respectfully,

GEORGE H. EARLE.

The SPEAKER. The communication will be noted in the Journal and printed in the Legislative Journal.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. BARBER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Labor for a public hearing.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole in in this case dispensed with.

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1215, entitled:

An Act regulating the payment of wages or compensation for labor or service in private employments imposing certain duties upon employers conferring powers and duties upon the Department of Labor and Industry and district attorneys imposing civil and criminal penalties for violations of the act and providing for their collection and disposition and making a repeal

Whereas The established procedure in this Commonwealth for the enforcement of the payment of wages has proved utterly inadequate and ineffective and

Whereas Many employers have taken advantage of needy employes by depriving them of wages which were justly due and

Whereas The evils arising from the failure to pay wages to employes are such as to render imperative the exercise of the police power of the Commonwealth for the protection of wage workers and their dependents and of the public interest of the community at large in their health and well-being therefore

The first, second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh sections were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That except as otherwise provided in this act all wages or compensation earned by any person in any private employment shall become due and payable and shall be paid at least twice during each calendar month on days to be designated by the employer as the regular pay days Services rendered between the first and fifteenth days inclusive of any calendar month shall be paid for on before the twenty-sixth day of the month during which the services were rendered and all services rendered between the sixteenth and the last day inclusive of any calendar month shall be paid for on or before the tenth day of the following month

Section 2 The wages or compensation of employes employed in agricultural viticultural and horticultural pursuits or in stock or poultry raising or in household domestic service who are boarded and lodged by their employers shall become due and payable monthly or once in each calendar month on a day designated in advance by the employer as the regular pay day But no two successive regular pay days shall be more than thirty-one days apart and the payment or settlement on each regular pay day shall include all amounts due for labor or service up to such pay day

Section 3 Whenever an employer discharges an employe or in any other manner terminates his employment the wages or compensation for labor or service earned by the employe and unpaid at the time of such discharge or termination of employment shall become due and payable and shall be paid immediately Whenever an employe not having a written contract for a definite period quits or resigns his employment or in the happening of any strike or lockout the wages or compensation earned and unpaid shall become due and payable and shall be paid not later than the next regular pay day In all cases covered by this section the payment or settlement shall include all amounts due each such employe without abatement or reduction and the employer shall return to each such employe any deposit or money or other guaranty required by him from such employe for the faithful performance of the duties of the employment less proper deductions only

Section 4 The wages or compensation subject to the provisions of this act shall include all amounts for labor or service performed by employes whether the amount is fixed or ascertained by the standard of time task piece commission basis or any other method of calculating the same or whether the labor or service is performed under contract subcontract partnership subpartnership station plan or other agreement for the performance of labor or service provided that the labor or service to be paid for is performed personally by the person demanding payment Nothing contained in this act shall in any way limit or prohibit the payment of wages or compensation at more frequent intervals or in greater amounts or in full when or before due but no provision of this act shall in any way be contravened or set aside by a private agreement whether written oral or implied and any such agreement is hereby declared null and void as against public policy

Section 5 All wages payable from any employer to any employe shall be paid in current money of the United States or in valid and negotiable checks for the full amount of wages due except only deductions of such amounts as may be legally owing to the employer by the employe and such deductions as may be made pursuant to any agreement between the employer and any labor union of which the employe is a member for the check-off of dues by such employer out of wages

Section 6 Every employer shall post and keep posted conspicuously at the place of work if practicable or where it can be seen as employes come or go to their places of work or at the office or nearest agency for payment kept by the employer a notice specifying the regular pay days and the time and place of payment in accordance with the provisions of sections one and two of this act and any changes in these matters occuring from time to time Every employe who is discharged quits or resigns or goes on strike or is locked out shall be paid at the employer's regular office or agency for payment where such employe would have been paid had he continued to work until the next pay day

Section 7 In case of a dispute over wages every employer shall pay without condition and within the time set by this act all wages or parts of wages conceded by him to be due leaving to the employe all remedies he or she might otherwise be entitled to as to any balance he or she may claim

The eigth section was read as follows:

Section 8 (a) It shall be the duty of the Department of Labor and Industry to enforce generally the provisions of this act and either upon its own initiative or upon complaint to inquire diligently for any violation of this act and to institute criminal proceedings in proper cases

(b) At the request of any employe whose weekly wages do not exceed fifty dollars the Secretary of Labor and Industry may take an assignment of any unpaid wage claim in trust for the assigning employe and may bring any legal action necessary to collect such claim and the employer shall be required to pay the costs of such action In all actions brought by the Secretary of Labor and Industry against any one employer for wages due employes whose claims have been assigned to him the said Secretary of Labor and Industry shall be the plaintiff and may join all such claims so assigned to him in one suit

(c) Nothing herein contained shall be construed to limit the authority of any district attorney of any county to institute prosecutions for such violations of this act as may come to his knowledge or to enforce the provisions hereof independently and without specific direction of the Department of Labor and Industry or to limit the right of any wage claimant to institute prosecutions or to sue directly or through an assignee for any wages or penalty due him or her under the provisions of this act

MOTION TO POSTPONE

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I tried to call the attention to the Chair before the bill was passed on second reading, for the reason that there is a great deal of misunderstanding about this bill, and I wanted to make a motion that the bill be placed on the postponed calendar. There are a lot of people who do not understand this bill. I do not think we ought to consign it to a place where it cannot be amended or defeated. I personally believe that this bill will be defeated on third reading, and as a person friendly to the bill, I would like to ask, Mr. Speaker, to reconsider the vote just taken so that I might move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. SPEAKER, I move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 318 entitled:

An Act to amend sections ten and fourteen of the act approved the twelfth day of July, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (P. L. 719), entitled "An act regulating certain political parties; providing for and regulating the nomination of candidates of such political parties for certain public offices, the election of delegates and alternate delegates to National party conventions, and of certain party officers, including State committeemen; a method whereby electors of such political parties may express their choice of candidates for the office of President of the United States; and the payment by the several counties and their reimbursement by the State, of the expenses of the same; authorizing the State committee of a political party to make, and to alter, amend, and revoke, rules; and providing penalties for the violation of the provisions of this act, and for the punishment of certain offenses provided for herein; and repealing inconsistent legislation," as amended; by substituting additional copies of the general return sheet for the triplicate party return sheets in the preparation for conduct of, and returning, canvassing, and computing the vote cast at primary elections; regulating their form of the numbered lists of voters; regulating the duties of election officers in calling and tabulating the votes; and regulating return board procedure.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Weiss?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Weiss, to explain what this bill does?

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker and members of this House, this bill replaces or amends provisions of the bill that now provide for triplicate return sheets, that is, each party is required to file triplicate return sheets. If there are nine or ten party names preempted, you are required to file triplicate return sheets for each party. This bill consolidates it by providing for five general return sheets, having enumerated thereon every party. This will result in a saving to Allegheny County alone of approximately fifteen or sixteen thousand dollars in the cost of printing.

This bill further simplifies the procedure by making an absolute provision for the duties of the various election officers in each election, that is, the majority inspector, minority inspector and judge of election have specific duties to perform. The provisions of the original bill do not provide for those duties. This bill designates the special duties they are to perform.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman whether the duties of the election officers are changed from the duties as they now are under the provisions of this bill?

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, they are not changed at all, but as they now are, there are no duties enumerated. It just specifies what is to be done by the return board. This bill provides as underlined on page 8, line 7; "under the scrutiny of the minority inspector or the minority inspector under the scrutiny of the judge." The act as it now reads does not provide for the specific duties of the members of the board.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, does the bill make any other change?

Mr. WEISS. No other change, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman if there is any change with respect to the specimen ballot?

Mr. WEISS. Not in this bill, Mr. Speaker. There is another bill, House Bill No. 321, which I believe provides for specimen ballots for each candidate.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

SENATE

TUESDAY, March 12, 1935.

The Senate met at 10:30 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Pro Tempore John G. Homsher) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. William E. Howard, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for friendship—for the ties of consideration, fellowship and love which bind together the hearts of men. The associations we have each with the other tend to cement our lives into mutual brotherhood. This, we believe is well-pleasing in Thy sight for Thou hast given us a "Friend that sticketh closer than a brother." Thy love which sent Him into the world touches and enriches the race; through Him we hear the message, "one is your Father, even God, and all ye are brethren."

May this friendship be not only a high ideal of which to dream but also an impulse driving us to unselfish consideration for one another and all mankind. May the acts of this Senate be the embodiment of this type of brotherhood.

At this time we pray especially for Thy blessing to rest upon a distinguished member of this body, and a former President Pro Tempore, who lies upon a bed of serious illness, whose life hangs by an uncertain thread. Be Thou very near to him to comfort and sustain him. Add to the skill of the physician, the skill of the Great Physician who went about doing good. Comfort his family. We pray this in the name of our great Elder Brother. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. CLARK, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. NORTON asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Schuylkill, Mr. Staudenmeier.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 42 as follows:

A Supplement to the act approved the eighteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred forty) entitled "An act concerning declaratory judgments and decrees and to make uniform the law relating thereto" prescribing the practice to be pursued in such proceedings

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That (a) Every proceeding for a declaratory judgment shall be commenced by a petition filed in a court of record having jurisdiction over causes of action complaints or subject matters of the kind involved in the controversy alleged

(b) The petition shall be as brief as the nature of the case will admit and shall be drawn in paragraphic form the paragraphs to be numbered consecutively and each to contain but one material allegation It shall have attached as exhibits copies of all writings depended upon by the petitioner or the construction of which he desires determined and shall conclude with a prayer for the declaratory judgment or decree the petitioner asks to be entered

Section 2 (a) The petition shall have endorsed thereon a notice to the defendant or defendants as follows "You are required to file an answer within fifteen days from the service of this copy upon you and to enter a written appearance in the court named to the term and number stated hereon specifying a person and a place within the county where service may be made upon you of all other papers processes and notices in the case If you fail in either respect a declaratory judgment or decree may be entered against you in your absence

(b) Petitions for declaratory judgments shall be served and return made in the same manner as in the case of summons

Section 3 If no answer is filed within the specified fifteen days the facts averred in the petition shall be taken as admitted and the court may if it deems the case a proper one for such relief enter an appropriate declaratory judgment or decree If the court reaches a contrary conclusion it may dismiss the petition or make such other order as right and justice may demand

Section 4 If the court finds that any person who has claims or might claim an interest which would be affected by the judgment or decree prayed for has not been served with a copy of the petition it may require the petitioner to bring in such person or persons by serving a copy of the petition on it him her or them with an endorsement thereon as provided for in section two of this act and such service shall make all persons so brought in parties to the proceeding

Section 5 A defendant may by his answer without first replying to the averments of fact in the petition raise any question of law which goes either to the jurisdiction of the court or to petitioner's legal right to have the disputed matter determined in this character of proceeding and any such question of law may be set down for hearing and disposed of in limine If in the opinion of the court the decision of the question thus set for hearing requires the determination against the petitioner of the point or points there raised the court may make such order thereon as the situation demands If the court shall decide such points so raised against a defendant he may within fifteen days file an answer to the averments of fact in the petition and the case shall be set down for a hearing on the merits of the controversy

Section 6 If the petitioner or a defendant desires any issue of fact to be tried and determined by a jury he shall so demand in his petition or answer and if no such demand is made its absence shall be treated as equivalent to an agreement to dispense with trial by jury and that all issues of fact as well as those of law may be determined and found by the court subject to exceptions and appeal as in equity cases

Section 7 Nothing in this act shall prevent a court from entering a declaratory judgment or decree in any civil proceeding suit or action no matter how commenced where all parties to be affected are actually in court or have had such notice of the proceeding suit or action as is required by law and where the court is convinced that such a judgment or decree is appropriate and proper to be entered

Section 8 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

An Act to amend section six of article four of an act approved the twenty-sixth day of July, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws one thousand three hundred seventy-four), entitled "An act defining public service companies; and providing for their regulation by prescribing and defining their duties and liabilities; prescribing, defining and limiting their powers, and regulating their incorporation, and, to a limited extent, regulating municipal corporations engaged or about to engage in the business of public service companies; creating and establishing a Public Service Commission for the regulation aforesaid; prescribing and defining the powers and duties of such Commission and its officers, including the exclusive power to regulate the construction, alteration, relocation, or abolition of the crossings of railroad corporations, street railway corporations, or other public service companies, and of public highways by the tracks or other facilities of said companies; providing for the ascertainment by the Commission of the expense and damages resulting from such construction, alteration, relocation, or abolition, and for the payment of such expenses and damages, severally or proportionately, by the public service companies interested, the State, or municipal corporation concerned, and giving persons whose property is thereby taken, injured, or destroyed, authority to sue the Commonwealth for damages in such cases; providing for the terms, salaries, and compensation of the members of the commission, its officers, counsel, and employes; prescribing and regulating the practice and procedure before such commission, and upon appeal and judicial review of its orders and determinations by the courts of common pleas; and giving the court of common pleas of Dauphin County exclusive jurisdiction of such appeals in certain cases, and of all injunctions, mandamus, or other appropriate proceedings to enforce the provisions of this act and the orders of the Commission, and to restrain such orders, subject to an appeal to the Supreme Court; prescribing penalties, fines, and imprisonment for the violation of the provisions of this act and for the violation of the orders of said Commission; making it the duty of the Public Service Commission to enforce the provisions of the act approved the nineteenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and eleven, entitled 'An act to promote the safety of travelers and employes on railroads, by compelling common carriers by railroad to properly man their trains,' by amending section nine thereof; repealing the act approved the thirty-first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and seven, which provided for the appointment of the Pennsylvania State Railroad Commission; and sections one and two of the act approved the fourth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three, entitled 'An act to enforce the provisions of the seventeenth article of the Constitution, relative to railroads and canals;' and an act entitled 'To provide the maximum car service charges, including car storage charges, that railroad companies and corporations, or associations, may charge and collect on each car loading, and not unloaded within the free time for unloading cars, and fixing the free time that shall be allowed for unloading cars,' approved twenty-fourth day of May, Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and seven; and the proviso of clause three and the provisos of clause seven of section thirty-four of the act, entitled 'An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations,' approved the twenty-ninth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, and all other legislation in consistent with or supplied by this act," providing that the counsel for the Commission shall be appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate.

Mr. HUNSICKER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HUNSICKER, from the Committee on State Government, reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 445, entitled:

An Act to further amend section two thousand four hundred and four of the act approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined;" requiring the Department of Property and Supplies to procure insurance and surety bonds by contract.

Mr. FREY, from the Committee on State Government, reported as committed the following Resolution:

STATE EMERGENCY RELIEF BOARD REQUESTED TO PURCHASE PENNSYLVANIA PRODUCTS

In the Senate, March 6, 1935.

Whereas, The State Emergency Relief Board expends large sums of money for the purchase of supplies, which if expended for Pennsylvania products will afford work for the unemployed and lessen expenditures for unemployment relief, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate requests the State Emergency Relief Board to specify, wherever possible, in its purchase of supplies for distribution to the unemployed, products of Pennsylvania manufacture where such products are equal in quality and not in excess of the price of products manufactured in other states.

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions reported from Committee to lie on the table one day be suspended and that the Senate do now proceed to the immediate consideration of the resolution just read.

Mr. PRESIDENT. Is their objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. CLARK. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 5:02 P. M. until tomorrow morning, March 13, 1935, at 11 o'clock.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, March 12, 1935

The House met at 11:00 o'clock A. M.

The SPEAKER (Wilson G. Sarig) in the Chair.

Great, omnipotent, all-wise God our Father, we thank Thee for the blessings that Thou hast vouchsafed unto us. We are grateful for the cheering news of recovery that comes to us from the bedside of our stricken colleague, the Rev. Frank W. Ruth. We hail these tidings as an answer to our prayers, the fulfillment of our hopes. May his restoration be speedy and complete.

As we face the difficult and baffling problems of this session we are conscious of our weakness, our lack of strength to adequately deal with them, but may we be much more aware of the sufficiency of Thy wisdom and its availability for each of us.

Bless the heads of our government, the officers and Members of this House. In His name and for His sake, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday, when, on motion of Mr. Ferko, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. CORDIER (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 84.

In the House of Representatives, March 11, 1935.

Whereas, Thousands of Pennsylvania citizens are directly and acutely interested in the passage of a bank payoff bill; and

Whereas, Such a measure is at present before the Congress of the United States; and

Whereas, This bank payoff bill, known as the Goldsborough Bill, provides that the Federal Government take over the assets of all closed banks in the country immediately, pay in full the depositors and liquidate the assets in the closed banks in an orderly way during a period of twenty years; and

Whereas, Such a method of orderly liquidation will greatly enhance the value of frozen assets and will stop deflation of values in real estate and many other bank holdings; and

Whereas, The Federal Government by thawing out the impounded life savings of ten million Americans will promote business confidence and activity will diminish relief payrolls and will be dealing justly with the depositors in closed banks; therefore, be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly memorialize the Congress of the United States to enact the Goldsborough Bill.

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the presiding officer of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States.

MOTION TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE

Mr. DENNING. Mr. Speaker, I move that the Committee on Law and Order be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 87, entitled:

An Act to amend section four eleven of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of November A. D. one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three, pamphlet laws, extraordinary session nineteen hundred and thirty-three, page fifteen, entitled "An act to regulate and restrain the sale, importation, and use of certain alcoholic beverages; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, the Department of Public Instruction, other officers of the State Government, courts, and district attorneys; authorizing the establishment and operation of State stores for the sale of such beverages not for consumption on the premises, and the granting of licenses, subject to local option, to sell such beverages for consumption on the premises; forbidding importation or bringing of such beverages into the State except as herein provided; prohibiting certain sales or practices in connection with; and transactions in, such beverages by licensees and others; making disposition of the receipts from State stores and of license fees and imposing penalties" fixing times for selling and distributing liquor and malt liquors.

which was offered January 14, 1935 and referred on January 15, 1935 and that the same be placed upon the House Calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, the subject matter contained in this Bill is one of the matters which has been the subject of inquiry and which is still the subject of inquiry of the Liquor Control Board Investigating Committee. At the end of that investigation we will have ready to submit to the members of this House our recommendations to be acted upon by this House.

Those recommendations will include both the findings of the Committee and the recommendations of the Liquor Control Board itself as to the remedial legislation necessary to meet the objections or the purpose of this bill, or any other liquor bill that is at present in the House, and I, therefore, ask until your Committee reports to you that all liquor bills be held in Committee, and I request that the motion to discharge the Committee on Law and Order from further consideration of this bill be defeated.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the bill which is the subject matter of the motion to discharge the Committee was offered on January 14 and was referred to the Committee on January 15. It is the bill relating to the selling of liquor by clubs, and I was informed just a moment or two ago that the Law and Order Committee will meet probably this week, and with the consent of the Sponsor of the motion I ask to withdraw the motion.

The SPEAKER. Will the sponsor agree to the withdrawal of the motion?

Mr. DENNING. I will Mr. Speaker.

RESOLUTION NO. 62

Mr. SCHROPE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 62, Printer's No. 257.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 18, 1935.

Whereas, The press recently carried a report that a Committee of Anthracite Mine Operators had conferred with the Governor to induce him to stop the mining and selling of so-called "Boot-leg Coal"; and

Whereas, The same article stated that there was being mined and placed on the market approximately 3,000,000 tons annually, or at the rate of 10,000 tons per day; and

Whereas, The average person engaged in mining this "Boot-leg Coal" is able to produce about one ton of coal per day, thus were these men compelled to cease mining coal, it would throw 10,000 men out of employment and add a like number to the State relief rolls; and

Whereas, Practically all "Boot-leg Coal" is taken from places that were formerly mined by the coal companies and these same companies have deemed it unprofitable to mine the coal that remains in many of these workings; and

Whereas, Most of the mines and colleries in the territory where "Boot-leg Coal" is at present being mined have been closed for a period of five years and longer and the men engaged in this hazardous work are honest, thrifty and progressive and at all times prefer employment to relief; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives believe that the proper way to overcome the present mining and marketing of "Bootleg Coal" is to equalize work throughout the anthracite coal fields and to cease the present policy of centralizing the mining industry in certain communities which has resulted in the closing of mines in other communities, depriving the workers in such communities of any opportunity for honest employment.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Scanlon, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, It is in reference to a statement made in a certain Philadelphia evening newspaper on the chain store tax. They stated that five city Republicans joined fifteen of the sixteen Democrats present. It infers further in the story that I was present and did not vote. I want to state that if I had been present I was positively in favor of the chain store tax, and the reason I was not voting was due to the fact that I was ill and not present at the time.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under the question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

On the question

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JOHN A. SMITH. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, by reason of a recent ruling of the Public Service Commission a great deal of inconvenience has been occasioned to the people of rural communities because of the necessity of truckers of milk and perishable products, food products, by order of the Public Service Commission, to take out certificates of public convenience. Those of you who have driven through the countryside at the time the fruits and vegetables are being marketed will very readily understand that at the time this marketing reaches its peak and these fruits and vegetables arrive at the peak of ripening, it is not possible for those farmers and fruit growers to secure enough certificated haulers to handle this crop.

If you see this peak of ripening, see the fields of ripened tomatoes, you will notice that it is a tremendous problem to get these tomatoes into the factories or canneries. You will likewise understand that when peaches ripen quickly, after several days of rain and a few days of hot sunshine, that it is a tremendous task to move all of this crop by the trucks of certificated haulers. You will likewise understand when this process is used as a means of discriminating against producers of milk, whereby farmers on certain routes are designated to certain truckers, it has become an extremely hard proposition for a farmer who wants to benefit himself by getting a better market by having a trucker from another route enter his farm, so that he may avail himself of that particular route, it then becomes necessary to go before the Public Service Commission, ask for a hearing, and have a certificate granted, so that he may transport that particular farmer's milk.

This bill is designed to take the movement of perishable foods out of the jurisdiction of the Public Service Commission, so that there will be no such thing as gerrymandering truck routes to the disadvantage of the milk producers. It is likewise intended to prevent the cluttering up of the records of the Public Service Commission with these detailed minutiae that are of no particular advantage to the Public Service Commission. According to the statement of the Public Service Commission on January 24, 1935, this entailed the necessity of sending out seventeen thousand applications for truckers' licenses. Members of the House, I ask you to support this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1215 as follows:

An Act regulating the payment of wages or compensation for labor or service in private employments imposing certain duties upon employers conferring powers and duties upon the Department of Labor and Industry and district attorneys imposing civil and criminal penalties for violations of the act and providing for their collection and disposition and making a repeal

Whereas The established procedure in this Commonwealth for the enforcement of the payment of wages has proved utterly inadequate and ineffective and

Whereas Many employers have taken advantage of needy employes by depriving them of wages which were justly due and

Whereas The evils arising from the failure to pay wages to employes are such as to render imperative the exercise of the police power of the Commonwealth for the protection of wage workers and their dependents and of the public interest of the community at large in their health and well-being therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That except as otherwise provided in this act all wages or compensation earned by any person in any private employment shall become due and payable and shall be paid at least twice during each calendar month on days to be designated by the employer as the regular pay days Services rendered between the first and fifteenth days inclusive of any calendar month shall be paid for on before the twenty-sixth day of the month during which the services were rendered and all services rendered between the sixteenth and the last day inclusive of any calendar month shall be paid for on or before the tenth day of the following month

Section 2 The wages or compensation of employes employed in agricultural viticultural and horticultural pursuits or in stock or poultry raising or in household domestic service who are boarded and lodged by their employers shall become due and payable monthly or once in each calendar month on a day designated in advance by the employer as the regular pay day But no two successive regular pay days shall be more than thirty-one days apart and the payment or settlement on each regular pay day shall include all amounts due for labor or service up to such pay day

Section 3 Whenever an employer discharges an employe or in any other manner terminates his employment the wages or compensation for labor or service earned by the employe and unpaid at the time of such discharge or termination of employment shall become due and payable and shall be paid immediately Whenever an employe not having a written contract for a definite period quits or resigns his employment or in the happening of any strike or lockout the wages or compensation earned and unpaid shall become due and payable and shall be paid not later than the next regular pay day In all cases covered by this section the payment or settlement shall include all amounts due each such employe without abatement or reduction and the employer shall return to each such employe any deposit or money or other guaranty required by him from such employe for the faithful performance of the duties of the employment less proper deductions only

Section 4 The wages or compensation subject to the provisions of this act shall include all amounts for labor or service performed by employes whether the amount is fixed or ascertained by the standard of time task piece commission basis or any other method of calculating the same or whether the labor or service is performed under contract subcontract partnership subpartnership station plan or other agreement for the performance of labor or service provided that the labor or service to be paid for is performed personally by the person demanding payment Nothing contained in this act shall in any way limit or prohibit the payment of wages or compensation at more frequent intervals or in greater amounts or in full when or before due but no provision of this act shall in any way be contravened or set aside by a private agreement whether written oral or implied and any such agreement is hereby declared null and void as against public policy

Section 5 All wages payable from any employer to any employe shall be paid in current money of the United States or in valid and negotiable checks for the full amount of wages due except only deductions of such amounts as may be legally owing to the employer by the employe and such deductions as may be made pursuant to any agreement between the employer and any labor union of which the employe is a member for the check-off of dues by such employer out of wages

Section 6 Every employer shall post and keep posted conspicuously at the place of work if practicable or where it can be seen as employes come or go to their places of work or at the office or nearest agency for payment kept by the employer a notice specifying the regular pay days and the time and place of payment in accordance with the provisions of sections one and two of this act and any changes in these matters occuring from time to time Every employe who is discharged quits or resigns or goes on strike or is locked out shall be paid at the employer's regular office or agency for payment where such employe would have been paid had he continued to work until the next pay day

Section 7 In case of a dispute over wages every employer shall pay without condition and within the time set by this act all wages or parts of wages conceded by him to be due leaving to the employe all remedies he or she might otherwise be entitled to as to any balance he or she may claim

Section 8 (a) It shall be the duty of the Department of Labor and Industry to enforce generally the provisions of this act and either upon its own initiative or upon complaint to inquire diligently for any violation of this act and to institute criminal proceedings in proper cases

(b) At the request of any employe whose weekly wages do not exceed fifty dollars the Secretary of Labor and Industry may take an assignment of any unpaid wage claim in trust for the assigning employe and may bring any legal action necessary to collect such claim and the employer shall be required to pay the costs of such action if the claim or any part thereof is sustained In all actions brought by the Secretary of Labor and Industry against any one employer for wages due employes whose claims have been assigned to him the said Secretary of Labor and Industry shall be the plaintiff and may join all such claims so assigned to him in one suit

(c) Nothing herein contained shall be construed to limit the authority of any district attorney of any county to institute prosecutions for such violations of this act as may come to his knowledge or to enforce the provisions hereof independently and without specific direction of the Department of Labor and Industry or to limit the right of any wage claimant to institute prosecutions or to sue directly or through an assignee for any wages or penalty due him or her under the provisions of this act

Section 9 Nothing in this act shall apply to the payment of wages or compensation of employes directly employed by the Federal Government the Commonwealth or any county city borough incorporated town township school district poor district or other municipal corporation All other employments shall for the purposes of this act be deemed private employments and subject to the provisions hereof.

Section 10 (a) Any person copartnership association or corporation or any agent manager superintendent or officer thereof who or which shall violate any of the provisions of this act or who or which shall wilfully refuse to pay upon demand wages due and payable as provided in this act or shall falsely deny the amount or validity thereof or that the same are due with the intent to secure any discount whatsoever upon such indebtedness or with the intent to annoy harass or oppress or hinder or delay or defraud the person to whom such indebtedness is due shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay either a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500) or to suffer imprisonment for not more than six months or both in the discretion of the court

(b) In the event that an employer shall wilfully fail to pay without abatement or reduction any wages or compensation of any employee who is discharged or who resigns or quits goes on strike or is locked out as in section three of this act provided then in addition to the penalty set forth in paragraph (a) of this section as a penalty for such nonpayment the wages or compensation of such employe shall continue from the due date thereof at the same rate until paid or until an action therefor shall be commenced provided that in no case shall such wages continue for more than thirty days and provided further that no such employe who secretes or absents himself to avoid payment to him or who refuses to receive the payment when fully tendered to him including any penalty then accrued under the provisions of this section shall be entitled to any benefit under this act for such time as he so avoids payment

Section 11 All fines collected received or recovered under this act in any criminal proceeding shall be paid to the Department of Labor and Industry and by it paid into the General Fund of the State Treasury through the Department of Revenue

Section 12 If any section sentence clause or part of this act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional such decision shall not affect the remaining portions of this act The Legislature hereby declares that it would have passed this act and each section sentence clause or part thereof irrespective of the fact that one or more sections sentences clauses or parts be declared unconstitutional

Section 13 The act approved the twenty-fourth day of April one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws one hundred fourteen) entitled "An act regulating the time of payment of wages and earnings and providing a penalty for violation hereof" be and the same is hereby repealed Provided That the repeal of this act shall not impair or affect any act done offense committed or right accrued or acquired or liability duty obligation penalty judgment or punishment incurred prior to its repeal but the same may be enjoyed asserted enforced prosecuted or inflicted as fully and to the same extent as if this act had not been repealed

Section 14 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the sponsor of this bill to explain it to the House?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks please explain the bill?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the purpose of this bill is to prevent chiselling employers from cheating their employes of wages which have been earned. It is not to be inferred that the average employer indulges in such conduct, but there are too many employers that do so. Frequently they come in from without the State, they rent a building, they rent some machinery, and then they employ, sometimes women, and sometimes men, and agree to pay them a wage that is usually low enough, give some excuse for postponing the payment, and keep that up for several weeks or months. I have in mind a particular case where this has been done, failing to pay the wages or a large part of them, and then going into receivership, or worse still, packing up and leaving the State with no assets with which to pay the wages. That has happened too frequently. In other cases the employe is compelled to bring suit, which involves putting up costs before an alderman or justice of the peace, and to pay an attorney or somebody else a large part of the small wage claim for the purpose of collecting it. As an attorney I am not anxious to take business away from attorneys, but I am very frank to say that most attorneys are not anxious to get that job of collecting because the work is out of all proportion in comparison with the amount they are paid for collecting. You are not hurting the attorneys: You are helping the workers and by passing this measure you will make it possible to collect these wages, and that is the purpose of this bill. There is a statute on the books at the present time which purports to do this, but the courts have made so many exceptions to it that it doesn't mean anything at all.

I have in mind a particular case that occurred last Summer, where an attempt was made to arrest a certain employer who hadn't paid wages for many weeks. We were lucky enough to get the man's partner who happened to be in town on that particular day, and when the constable said to the gentleman, "you either have to put up bail for a hearing or go to jail," he pulled out a roll which the constable told me was that big around, and the smallest bill in the roll was a ten dollar bill. Yet he owed fifteen or twenty people in the plant wages to the amount of twenty or twenty-five dollars each, and he refused to pay them. A few days later, when another attorney started another action, they appealed the case to court and they lost it because it was a corporation, you couldn't do anything about it, and they got away with it. Tactics of that sort have been carried on by certain employers,—not by the average employer at all. This bill will not affect the honest employer in any way, shape or form, but it does put teeth in the law and it will permit the collection of wages from these other types of employers who have been imposing upon employes of this Commonwealth. It makes it a criminal offense to fail to pay wages at least twice a month, except in certain cases, where they are employed in agricultural, viticultural and horticultural pursuits or in stock or poultry raising or in household domestic service who are boarded and lodged by their employers, in which case they only have to pay once a month. It has a provision relating to employes who are receiving fifty dollars a week. They may assign their claims to the Secretary of Labor and Industry, and the Secretary is authorized to bring suit against the employers, and can consolidate all suits against the same employer in one action and in that way enforce collection. This method of collection has been used in California for many years, and almost a similar measure is in force there and has been in use, and it has been found to be very effective. More wages are collected in California with less difficulty than in any other State. This bill is recommended by the Department of Labor in Washington and by the Department here at Harrisburg. It is endorsed, I may say, by the administration and is a measure which will benefit the employes of this Commonwealth.

I ask you to vote for it.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the purposes back of this bill are very laudable, and it would seem to me as if the bill is practically about ninety-eight percent right. The objection that some of my constituents have to the bill is the requirement that notice shall be posted, giving notice to the world of the time of paydays.

Now, we have had difficulty in Philadelphia, and I assume that others have had outside of Philadelphia, with bandits appearing on the days fixed for the payment of employes. Some of my constituents think it would be a big mistake to require an employer to post a sign and thus notify bandits and so on that they can appear at a certain time and steal that payroll. I would suggest if the sponsor of this bill would agree that the bill be placed on the postponed calendar, and that section 6 appearing on page 4, "Every employer shall post and keep posted conspicuously at the place of work," and so on, the time and practically the hour when payment will be made. May I have permission to put it on the postponed calendar so that part may be removed from the bill?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would like to discuss the point raised by the gentleman from Philadelphia.

It does not seem to me to be a valid objection to the bill for these reasons: At the present time there is no difficulty for any one to find out when the pay day is in any large plant. In order to enforce a measure of this kind and make it mean anything at all, there must be a definite pay day fixed, otherwise the employer can always shift the time and say that his pay day is here or there or some other time and make it that much more difficult to enforce. In the second place, the bill permits payment in valid, negotiable checks, which, of course, would do away with the danger of any holdup or anything of that sort. I think that at the present time any person who is interested in staging a holdup of any large plant would have absolutely no difficulty in finding out the time of the regular pay day. I know that I can find out the regular pay day of any plant in the city of Reading simply by asking one of the employes. There is no secrecy about the matter, and the mere fact that you are going to have to post a notice in the plant seems to be a rather fastidious objection.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Berks.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, under Section 2 of this Act, is any farmer who fails to pay his farm help in full once a month liable to penalties?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, yes, I think he is, under this bill.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, those of you from the rural districts understand very well that the farms in this State are not conducted on what might be a proper factory basis. There is many a farmer who employs help and who, with the consent of his farm hands, does not pay every month in full, and indeed under present conditions, with the difficulties of financing agricultural operations, the obligation to pay farm hands in full every month simply brings agriculture in this State to a stop. It can't be done. It never has been done even when credit was plenty, but with credit tied up as it is now, the agricultural employer cannot pay his help in full every month, or else be subjected to penalties. He will simply have to let the sheriff have the farm.

Mr. YOURISHIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, Section 2 of the bill provides that the farm help and so forth shall be paid at least once a month. I want to tell the members of this House that the intent of the bill is to protect the employer, or, rather, the employe from the unscrupulous employer that may want to get away without paying his honest to God obligations.

While there is a provision in the bill that the farmer shall pay his help at least once a month, I don't believe that the farmer is going to suffer as a result of that section being in, but if a farmer hires a man to do work upon his farm and agrees to pay him two or three, five or ten dollars a month, and then at the end of the month refuses to pay that man, I say that man should have some redress whereby he may collect his wages.

This measure has been approved, not only by organized labor, but by labor throughout the state of Pennsylvania, to protect those, and there are hundred of them, who have lost their wages because of the fact that some unscrupulous employer came in, worked them for a month or two and then left the State, and nobody was able to collect anything. If later on they were able to collect anything they had to spend practically half their money before they were able to get any redress, in the way of paying lawyers and so forth.

I say that this bill is not going to work any hardship upon the farmer. I don't think that any employe of any farmer would stand up here and say, if his employer is not able to pay him in one month and he has to wait another month, and the farmer agrees to pay the man—I don't think the employe of that farmer is going to sue him for those wages, but if he refuses to pay him then I say that the employe has the right to have some redress in order to get his money.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the gentleman across the aisle, I don't believe has ever worked on a farm. The farm hand who works on a farm is protected by the fact that the farm can't run away; a factory can. The man who works on a farm is protected by the fact that crops can't run away without being attached. On countless farms in this state, the employer and the employe understand that wages cannot be paid every month, but the farm hand who is fired or who has to leave has his protection by reason of the fact that the farmer's farm, the farmer's crop and the farmer's land, are all there, subject to attachment for wages. This bill, as it stands, even makes it impossible for an employer and a farm hand by agreement to waive the payment of the monthly wages in full. It is a vicious measure—Section 2.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, as one farmer to another—yes.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Cambria, since he has raised the issue, how recently he has worked on a farm.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, that is an embarrassing question. It is at least thirty-five years.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inform the gentleman from Cambria that I worked on a farm within the last ten years.

Mr. Speaker, I would like seriously to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, seriously? It is difficult for me to distinguish between his serious interrogations and his flippant ones. If he will label them, I may be able to reply.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, probably after the question is asked, the gentleman will be able to differentiate. I would like to ask the gentleman from Cambria whether in stating that the hired man always had redress against the farmer's farm and his crops, he had in mind tenant farmers.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the tenant farmers' crops, the tenant farmers' stock.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether he refers to cases where the tenant farmer doesn't even own the stock or the crop.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, he represents someone else who does and acts as an agent.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, wouldn't the landlord's claim for rent under such circumstances as a claim against the tenant's crops come in ahead of wages?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, that is a question for the legal fraternity. My judgment as a layman is that under any conditions wages have a prior claim, certainly against the crop.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I was interrupted and did not hear the gentleman's answer.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, it was a good one. The gentleman ought to pay attention.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether or not he thinks that a hired man of a tenant farmer, who owns neither the farm nor his crops nor stock, has any protection as the law now stands.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I will answer the gentleman by saying that under those conditions the tenant farmer acts as an agent, and that his principle would be responsible for the acts of his agent, and it has always seemed to me as a layman, that wages were the one thing that had protection under the laws of this State.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in answer to the gentleman from Cambria, I may say that is a general delusion that many people are laboring under, namely, that wages can always be collected.

Almost every week I have a wage earner come into the office who presents a wage claim to me for collection. When I explain to him, after getting the facts, that the claim is not collectible, he says "I thought wages always came out first." Unfortunately under the law as it is, they do not, and there are many instances where it is impossible to collect wages. I have had claims in my office against tenant farmers which were utterly uncollectible. I have no desire to put a further burden upon the farmer. Having been born and raised upon a farm and working on one until recent years, I am very well aware of the hardships to which the farmer is subjected, but I do say that it is the duty of every employer who employes help to make arrangements to pay the wages that he agrees to pay and to ask him to pay them once a month. The wages of the farm laborer are not very heavy. I realize that the amount of cash that the average farmer has frequently amounts to nothing, and I would say that a farmer who hires a man should be able to make arrangements to pay his small wages at least once a month. It is not fair to expect a man to work for an entire season for his board and lodging and take his chance of getting the wages at the end of the season, before somebody else attaches the goods, or if the farmer has sold his goods, or has sold his crop and didn't get paid for it, then the tenant loses the wages to which he is entitled. Such conditions do exist and the wage earner should be entitled to protection as a matter of public policy.

This bill has been carefully drafted and has been in the Attorney General's office for several weeks. It is a measure, as I said before, which is almost identical with one which is in force in California and has been for a number of years. It deals with the entire situation. Every section, every clause of it, has been carefully considered, with the idea of protecting the wage earners without imposing any unfair hardships upon the employers, be that employer the owner of a factory or a farm, or any one else who may be subject to the provisions of this measure.

I, therefore, ask that you give your support to this bill.

Mr. JOHN E. BROWN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, on this question we have heard a great deal about the farmer, the poor farmer. Now, I think I have a right to say a word, and that is that the farmers of Pennsylvania are not asking for any exemption. When they hire a man they are willing to pay him, and if they do not have the money they do not very often hire him. Scripture has that the laborer is worthy of his hire, and as farmers in Pennsylvania, we do not ask any exemption. Vote for the bill.

Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker, I only wanted to ask for permission to interrogate the gentleman from Berks and I only wanted to ask a question. I did not want to take the time to make a speech and I did not want to come clear up here in front to ask this question. In this bill, page 4, line 4, there is this clause: "no provision of this act shall in any way be contravened or set aside by a private agreement whether written, oral or implied, and any such agreement is hereby declared null and void as against public policy." I simply want to ask the gentleman from Berks whether that would prevent a farmer from making a private agreement with a hired man to work for him for wages that the two of them would agree upon. That was the question and that was all I cared to have answered at this time.

Mr. SPEAKER. The gentleman from Erie, Mr. McCreary, wishes to interrogate the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes. Will the gentleman from Berks permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOOPES. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCREARY. I just asked the question, Mr. Speaker. I asked the gentleman whether this provision in this bill would prevent the farmer from making a personal or mutual agreement with the hired man to work for him and pay him when he could.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, in answering the gentleman from Erie, I will say that unquestionably that provision in the bill will prevent any employer from hiring a man and agreeing to pay him wages when he can't. It is necessary as a matter of public policy to prevent such contracts. The workers have been grossly imposed upon by a few employers—not the average employers. Don't misunderstand me, I have been a farmer and I know that the average farmer is honest and has no intention of defrauding anybody, but a few employers have taken advantage of the situation. If you allow them by private agreement to completely set aside every provision of the act, then you might as well not have the act at all. Therefore, we put this section in the act which declares such agreements against public policy.

Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, when you want information about farmers, I don't see why you don't ask farmers for that information. I have lived on the same farm for forty-three years. I have hired many men during that time. I have never yet refused to pay man what I agreed to pay him, but we had a mutual understanding that he would wait for part of his pay until the crops were harvested to pay him. I will say that ninety percent of the farmers in Pennsylvania depend for their money to pay their help on what they get from their crops. In the Spring of the year every farmer knows that there are seeds, fertilizer, repair bills and extra feed, and a hundred and one things requiring every cent that he has and more, and necessarily he has to wait until he gets a retufn from some of those crops to pay his grocer sometimes, and likewise his hired man.

I fail to see any sense in passing a bill by this Legislature that is to prevent a farmer from doing that very thing, and I think that any member from a rural district who will vote yes on a bill like this ought to be tarred and feathered and afraid to go home.

Now, members, there is a reason for all things, and I appreciate what Mr. Hoopes has just said, but he draws his conclusions from many, many factories or fly-by-night necktie makers, who rent a building and then go away without paying anything. But this is talking about farmers who live on their farms. The land can't run away, or the crops, but they have to wait until they are harvested and they can sell them and get the money,—and a mutual agreement between the hired man, as we call him, and the farmer, this bill comes in and prevents that agreement, and it is contrary to all common sense and anybody that votes "yes" from a farming community at least is to be pitied.

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, while I do not believe that any of the objections which have been raised to this bill on the floor of the house this morning carry much weight, and while I also believe that this bill could be pushed through with a nice majority this morning, I also believe that we can erase some of the doubts that exist in reference to the different terms of this bill from the minds of those who doubt the provisions of it.

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. LARUE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would like to call attention to the fact that the reason it is being postponed is because the printer has garbled it so that it has to be postponed so that we can reconsider it.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER, declared the ayes appeared to have it,

Whereupon, a division was called for and one hundred and thirty-eight members or more than a majority having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Erie will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker, how long is it necessary for a bill to lie over until it can be reconsidered?

The SPEAKER. It can be reconsidered within five legislative days.

Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker, can it be reconsidered at any time within ten minutes?

The SPEAKER. Some other business must transpire under the rules.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Mr. EROE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 534, Printer's No. 168, on page 18 of today's calendar, bills on third reading postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Eroe.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 534, entitled:

An Act for the preservation of the lien of certain taxes levied by political subdivisions of this Commonwealth and for the filing of claims therefor providing for the imposition of penalties and interest on such taxes and abating the penalties and interest imposed by existing law providing for the payment of certain costs by taxpayers providing for the collection of such taxes penalties and interest and authorizing taxing authorities to abate penalties interest and costs imposed by this act

On the question recurring

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. EROE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend title, page 1, line 2 of title, by inserting after the word "Commonwealth" the following: "except cities of the first and second class and school districts of the first class"

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, line 5, by inserting after the word "Commonwealth" the following: "except cities of the first and second class and school districts of the first class"

Amend Sec. 4, page 3, line 19, by inserting after the word "Commonwealth" the following: "except cities of the first and second class and school districts of the first class"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BY MR. WITKIN (Concurrent) RESOLUTION NO. 86

In the House of Representatives, March 12, 1935.

Whereas, A number of bills have been introduced in the House and Senate having a single purpose—to provide for the abatement of penalties and interest, in whole or in part, on delinquent taxes if these delinquent taxes are paid; and

Whereas, Taxpayers should be encouraged to pay their taxes in order that government may function, and legislation should be adopted at the earliest possible time to spur delinquent taxpayers to use every effort possible to pay their taxes; and

Whereas, Bills have passed the Senate and repose in House committees, bills have passed the House and repose in Senate committees, others are on the calendars and still others are in committee awaiting committee action; and

Whereas, It is apparent that confusion exists not only between the House and Senate as to the proper measure to be adopted, but as well among Members of the same House in passing more than one bill to accomplish substantially the same object; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the Speaker appoint three Members of the House, and the Senate appoint three Members of the Senate, who together shall constitute a special committee, whose duty it shall be to draft a new bill or select an introduced bill, either House or Senate, which in its present or an amended form the committee deems to be a proper measure on the subject of abating penalties and interest on delinquent taxes, and to make report thereof to the Senate and House of Representatives as early as possible.

Referred to the Committee on Banking.

HOUSE BILL NO. 1215 MADE A SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 1215, Printer's No. 258, entitled:

An Act regulating the payment of wages or compensation for labor or service in private employments, imposing certain duties upon employers, conferring powers and duties upon the Department of Labor and Industry and district attorneys, imposing civil and criminal penalties for violations of the act and providing for their collection and disposition, and making a repeal.

on page 15 of today's calendar, bill on final passage postponed be made a special order of business on Wednesday March 13, 1935 at 11:30 o'clock A. M.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Mr. WESTRICK. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 454, Printer's No. 205, on page 18 of today's calendar, bills on third postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Westrick.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 454, entitled:

An Act appropriating certain accumulations in the Fire Insurance Tax Fund to cities townships and boroughs for payment to firemen's relief pension and retirement funds

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Legislative Journal.

Session 1935. 131st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 18. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 13, 1935 No. 28

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, March 13, 1935.

The Senate met at 11 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Pro Tempore John G. Homsher) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. William E. Howard, D. D., offered the following prayer:

O Thou Father of us all, we are convened this morning in a session of sorrow. One who has for years been a faithful co-legislator, one who has presided over the deliberations of this Senate wisely and well, one who has won the admiration and esteem of his colleagues by his personality, ability and tireless service, has been called from his labors here to enter into a higher life and nobler service among the redeemed at Thy right hand.

We pray that the Great Comforter of all who mourn may uphold and administer solace to the heart of his companion and to all who were bound to him by ties of blood and human relationship. May the presence of Him who was the "Man of Sorrows and acquainted with grief" bring to his widow compassion and comfort in this lonely hour.

And may his fellow-Senators and co-workers realize anew life's uncertainty and consecrate themselves anew to the Commonwealth and the nation he loved and served with such fidelity.

Our hope is that when we reach the end of our course here we may meet him there to enjoy a fellowship deeper and fuller than earth can afford. Until then keep us true and loyal to Thee and to our duty. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. BUCKMAN, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

MINUTE ON DEATH OF SENATOR BOYD

The PRESIDENT. It is with a sense of sincere sorrow and deep regret that the Senate has learned during the night of the death of our colleague, James S. Boyd. Yesterday the reports of his critical illness caused all of his colleagues and acquaintances great concern.

We stand in humble submission to the Divine dispensation which has called him hence, leaving us here to carry on as best we know, with brave hearts, until our work also shall be done.

COMMITTEE TO ATTEND THE FUNERAL OF SENATOR JAMES S. BOYD

Mr. ROBERTS offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 13, 1935.

Resolved, That the entire membership of the Senate as a Committee of the Whole and the principal officers of the Senate be appointed a committee to attend the funeral of the late Senator James S. Boyd, at 11 o'clock, Saturday morning, March 16th, at St. John's Episcopal Church, Norristown.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The SECRETARY. The funeral of Senator Boyd will take place from St. John's Episcopal Church, Norristown, Saturday morning, March 16th, at 11:00 o'clock. This church is located near the Court House in Norristown. The Senate Committee will meet at the Valley Forge Hotel, Norristown, at a time to be fixed, of which each Senator will be informed. Arrangements will be made for cars to go from the Capitol at Harrisburg, for the Senators who will be in this city. The cars will return to Harrisburg that evening.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO THE DEATH OF THE HONORABLE JAMES S. BOYD

Mr. BUCKMAN offered the followign resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 13, 1935.

Whereas, Divine Providence has taken from our midst our colleague, Honorable James S. Boyd, representative in this body of the people of the 12th Senatorial District; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of this Senate have suffered a great loss in the death of Senator Boyd and that they will remember with deep affection his association with them; and be it further

Resolved, That when the Senate adjourns today it be in memory of Senator Boyd and as a recognition of his distinguished service to the Senate, the people of his District and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. HOWELL, from the Committee on Elections, reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 31, entitled:

An Act to amend section six as amended and section eight of the act approved the twelfth day of July, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (P. L. 719), entitled "An act regulating certain political parties; providing for and regulating the nomination of candidates of such political parties for certain public offices, the election of delegates and alternate delegates to national party conventions, and of certain party officers, including State committeemen; a method whereby electors of such political parties may express their choice of candidates for the office of President of the United States; and the payment by the several counties, and their reimbursement by the State, of the expenses of the same; authorizing the State committee of a political party to make, and to alter, amend, and revoke rules; and providing penalties for the violation of the provisions of this act, and for the punishment of certain offenses provided for herein; and repealing inconsistent legislation," prohibiting candidates for certain offices from being candidates for more than one party nomination, and requiring candidates' affidavits from candidates for additional offices.

ADJOURNMENT OUT OF RESPECT TO THE MEMORY OF HONORABLE JAMES S. BOYD

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn.

Whereas, It seems to be incredible that the taxpayers of the City and County of Philadelphia should contribute to the Treasury of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania the sum of about twenty-three dollars and seventy-five cents, per head, and the taxpayers of that City and County only have returned to them the sum of about eight dollars and ninety-seven cents,

Now Therefore Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives, that the Secretary of the Department of Revenue is requested to check the above statement and inform the House, within the next three weeks, whether such statements are substantially correct.

Mr. McKINNEY, from the Committee on State Government reported as committed, House Bill No. 1301 (Senate Bill No. 168), entitled:

An Act creating a commission to allot all space in the Capitol Building and the Museum Building and defining the duties of the said commission.

HOUSE BILLS NOS. 843 AND 1128 MADE A SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. FURMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 843, Printer's No. 246, entitled:

An Act to amend section three of the act approved the twenty-second day of June one thousahd nine hundred and thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws six hundred and ninety-four) entitled "An act imposing a tax on gross receipts as an excise on the use of the public highways by certain owners or operators of motor vehicles transporting passengers and property for hire" by removing deductions from and eliminating credits against the tax imposed by the act and House Bill No. 1128, Printer's No. 285, entitled:

An Act to provide revenue by imposing a State stamp tax upon certain documents and obligations prescribing and regulating the method and manner of evidencing the payment of such tax conferring powers and imposing duties upon certain persons partnerships associations and corporations county officers and the Department of Revenue and providing penalties on page 11 of today's calendar, bills on third reading be made a special order of business 12:00 o'clock noon today.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, what effect will this order of business have on the special order of business already fixed for 11:30 A. M. in case we are not through with that by 12:00 o'clock.

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes to inform the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes, that the bill now on special order will have a full half hour. That bill was fully debated yesterday, and if not completed by that time it will have preference over the other bill, provided that the motion for the previous question is not introduced.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I did not quite understand the reference to a previous question. If the motion for the previous question is made on House Bill No. 1215, that will not prevent the conclusion of the vote on that question, will it?

The SPEAKER. It will not.

Mr. HOOPES. In other words, under any circumstances House Bill No. 1215 will have preference until it is disposed of; is that correct?

The SPEAKER. Until it is completed.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

SPECIAL ORDER ON FINAL PASSAGE

The SPEAKER. The hour of 11:30 having arrived, the time fixed for the special order, the Chair lays before the House, House Bill No. 1215, on final passage.

Agreeably to order.

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1215, entitled:

An Act regulating the payment of wages or compensation for labor or service in private employments imposing certain duties upon employers conferring powers and duties upon the Department of Labor and Industry and district attorneys imposing civil and criminal penalties for violations of the act and providing for their collection and disposition and making a repeal

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EROE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. EROE. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Hoopes, if a farmer would hire a man with the understanding that he would be paid in potatoes or apples or something of that sort, what effect would section five have on that payment?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the question, it is my judgment that where the agreement, as is usually made between farmers and hired hands, that a part of the wages are paid in commodities, milk, potatoes, chickens or whatever it may be, that this act would only apply to that part of the wages that are required to be paid in cash. In other words it will not permit an agreement to be made to pay so much in cash and then permit him to pay it in something else, but if, as is very commonly the case in agreements with farmers, particularly where the hired man is a tenant on the farm, if he is to receive a certain part of his keep in addition to his wages, I think this act will apply only to that part required to be paid in money.

Mr. EROE. Mr. Speaker, section five of this act clearly states "All wages payable from any employer to any employe shall be paid in current money of the United States or in valid and negotiable checks."

I can see no place there where the farmer could get out of paying in cash or in negotiable checks. That section would absolutely prohibit a farmer from paying wages in potatoes or apples, which is customary in a good many cases today, and I can see no reason why these men refuse to amend the bill to protect the farmers of the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, to briefly answer the gentleman from Lawrence section five applies only to wages. I do not consider potatoes, chickens, milk or whatever else may be included in the agreement between the farmer and the hired man as wages. As before stated, part of the agreement usually is that he shall receive so much per month and so much more in the form of commodities, and this applies only to that part known as wages, designated in the form of money. I do not see how you could possibly apply it to anything but money and I do not think you could possibly work it out in any way so it could be paid in cash.

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks Mr. Hoopes permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask Mr. Hoopes if I am to understand by the provisions of this act that a domestic who is boarded and lodged on the premises can be paid only once a month?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will give me a minute, I want to find another section in the act which specifically provides that nothing in this act shall prohibit the payment more frequently. At the top of page four, the end of section four, it states, "Nothing contained in this act shall in any way limit or prohibit the payment of wages or compensation at more frequent intervals or in greater amounts or in full when or before due."

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Then, Mr. Speaker, may I ask Mr. Hoopes what is the real purpose of section two which says that wages shall become due and payable monthly.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, that section fixes the time within which they must be paid. In other words, pay days must not be farther apart than as provided in section two, but you may pay daily, weekly, or at whatever time you wish to pay. As in the case of almost every penal statute, you fix a maximum or a minimum, and in this case you fix a maximum time. Nothing in this act prevents payment at more frequent intervals, but it will not permit them to pay yearly or not at all.

Mr. SUMNEY. Mr. Speaker, having been raised on a farm and probably understanding about as much as the average man or a little bit more about it, I want to say right here that while they have chiselers among farmers and among employers that we have heard a great deal of, we haven't heard a word about chiselers on the other side. The average farmer can not pay every thirty-one days or every thirty days as the case may be, and what is the use in passing a law, Mr. Speaker and friends, which forbids my friend to my left here, who probably owns a farm, from making a deal with me to wait? This act prevents or tends to prevent, and as the sponsor of this bill states, will prevent him and me from entering into any agreement that suits us. What is the use in passing laws that cannot be enforced? I cannot see it, and I think that section two should be entirely eliminated. I will not vote for any such bill. Furthermore I am telling you right here that the members from the rural districts will receive considerable criticism if they vote for it.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, this I realize is an important bill and it has incorporated into it many valuable features, but there are things that we must take into consideration in enacting a bill so that it will not do injury. We are not justified in hanging a man so that we may do good to half a dozen others, and this bill is going to work an injury to the farmer.

We must differentiate between the farmers' output and production and that of the factories and perhaps of the professional man. The lawyers and the newspaper men have their income every day and they can pay their help. The factories are getting in their money from time to time, and they can pay their help, but the farmers just now, those engaged in horticulture, in fruit raising, are now pruning their trees; they must buy fertilizer in order to insure them a crop; they must buy spraying materials, and there will be no income from this until about August. They are without funds; how are they going to get help? It seems to me some provision should be set up whereby there could be an agreement between the farmer and his help that this money would be forthcoming at a later time and thus protect the farmer so that he can carry on his industry. I say, members of the House, we should have a change in this bill or we should vote the bill down.

Mr. REISING. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. REISING. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say to Mr. Hoopes that we have to bring out the practical and workable side of this bill. Would it be possible under this measure for a farmer to make this agreement with the man that he is hiring: "I will pay you a small wage this month and next month, but the following month my crops will be disposed of and then I will pay you a higher wage for three or four or five months?" That help will receive a fair wage for his services. Will that be possible under this bill?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, answering the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Reising, in my judgment there is nothing in this bill that will prevent a farmer from hiring a man under an agreement whereby he will pay five dollars a month for January, February and March, and ten dollars for April and May, and twenty dollars for June or July or any similar schedule which may be satisfactory to the parties.

Mr. REISING. Mr. Speaker, with that explanation, as I see it the bill would not work the hardship on the farmer that has been indicated here, and there must be some degree of protection for the man who works for the wages that he must necessarily accept,—and these wages are conspicuous by their smallness in working on the farm.

The farmer would probably be able to give his employe a small portion of money each month,—not necessarily a large portion,—it could be an agreement between him and his employe, so therefore since that is permissable under the law as outlined by the sponsor, I feel that an arrangement could be set up under it that would not create a hardship on either the employer or employe.

Mr. EROE. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. EROE. Mr. Speaker, may I call the attention of Mr. Hoopes to the fact that in answer to my interrogation a moment ago he said that the farmer could make an agreement to pay partly or wholely in produce, but in section four page four line four, this act says, "No provision of this act shall in any way be contravened or set aside by a private agreement whether written, oral or implied and any such agreement is hereby declared null and void as against public policy."

Now, if that section means what it says, the farmer must pay in cash, isn't that right?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the question of the gentleman I would say it is not right. If I understood the meaning of words, they are quite plain,—they are not permitted to set up an agreement with the intent and avowed purpose of evading this act, but there is nothfarmer, part of the wages in commodities, as has been the practice heretofore.

Mr. EROE. Mr. Speaker, may I call the attention of the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes, to the fact that section five of the act says, "All wages payable from any employer to any employe shall be paid in current money of the United States or in valid and negotiable checks." It says, "shall." If that is not mandatory, Mr. Speaker, I do not know what is.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman, as I tried to point out in answer to the question which he put before, in my judgment potatoes or whatever commodity may be involved are not wages, and they are not thereby covered by that mandatory provision. It is intended to cover cases where wages are fixed in terms of money but are paid in the form of store orders or scrip or something else that directly refers to an amount in money.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that this is a very important measure I ask that the roll be verified.

SPECIAL ORDERS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

The SPEAKER. The Hour of 12:00 o'clock having arrived, the time fixed for the Special Order, the Chair lays before the House, House Bill No. 843.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 843, entitled:

An Act to amend section three of the act approved the twenty-second day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws six hundred ninety-four) entitled "An act imposing a tax on gross receipts as an excise on the use of the public highways by certain owners or operators of motor vehicles transporting passengers and property for hire" by removing deductions from and eliminating credits against the tax imposed by the act

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SHREINER. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House I arise to oppose House Bill No. 843, because this bill amends the provision of the gross receipts act and excise tax owners and operators of motor vehicles transporting passengers and merchandise for hire.

At the present time there is an eight mill excise tax on their gross receipts, and at the present time they are allowed to deduct from that tax half of their registration fee as well as any taxes paid the cities for the use of highways. It is estimated that there are approximately fifty thousand trucks in the state of Pennsylvania used for hire. It is also estimated that their annual volume is about sixteen million dollars. At the rate of eight mills, as at present, the income is about one hundred and twenty-eight thousand dollars. Now this bill amends to deduct just half of the registration fee and what they may be compelled to pay the various cities for the use of the highways used in transporting different kinds of commodities over the streets.

There are many of these truck owners at the present time who because of the grace of some truck dealer or some finance company are able to do this hauling; they are able to make a decent living and who otherwise would be on the relief rolls. If this bill is passed these owners of these vehicles used for hire will absolutely have to go out of business and then they will go back on the relief rolls of Pennsylvania. For that reason, members of the House, I ask you to oppose this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Section 10 The provisions of this act are severable and if any of its provisions shall be held to be unconstitutional the decision of the court shall not affect or impair any of the remaining provisions. It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provisions not been included herein

Section 11 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McDEVITT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is a bill that is commonly called a documentary stamp tax act. It would be alright if that is as far as it went, but in describing what a document is you will find that it takes into consideration practically every piece of paper hat can be issued. In the first part it says, "Document—A written instrument." Then it goes on to say that it "includes the following." Well, naturally it would include any deed or instrument or writing relating to any lands, tenements or hereditaments. It goes on to say, "Any bond debenture or certificate." But then it goes just about as far as any descriptive phrase could go by saying, "Or evidence of indebtedness." Further it says—also very broadly—"Any written obligation to pay money including any promissory note." Then it goes on, not into detail, but very broadly.

It is rather interesting to analyze this bill and see just how far it does go; how it affects the individual and how far it affects the business man. Say, for instance, a man is in business, and it doesn't make any difference whether he is a big corporation or a man who has a comparatively small store. He will have to pay this tax of five cents per hundred or any part thereof. He will pay it on his fire insurance policy. If he pays premiums on that policy in installments he will have to pay five cents on each installment; not on twenty or thirty dollars as the installment might be, but on the face value of that policy; even if he pays it in twelve equal installments. In addition the same thing would apply on any other kind of insurance that he might have, such as liability insurance, property, fidelity bond on his employe or any other kind of insurance, such as personal life insurance. He would have to pay that not only on the face amount but if paid that premium on a weekly basis or monthly or semi-annually, on each occasion he would have to pay a five cent tax per hundred on the face amount, not on the premium he pays, but on the total sum. Further, if he had a life insurance policy in favor of his business, he would have to pay it in the same way.

In my opinion this stamp tax would also apply to every check that is issued in business, no matter if it is for a payroll or in payment of merchandise or any obligation that the business might have. You can very readily see how this five cents per hundred or any part thereof will add up where you have large payrolls or on parts of obligations. As far as an obligation is concerned, if you owe a man a thousand dollars and pay one hundred dollars, you don't pay five cents on the hundred dollars you pay it on the thousand dollars, and you will pay it on every single installment of that one thousand dollars. It is very easy to see how this will accumulate.

Probably as far as this act is concerned, the most vicious part is its effect on what is commonly called commercial paper or trade acceptances. A great many businesses are financed, or rather they finance themselves, by the issuing of short term notes. These notes bear a low interest rate because they are only for a short period of time, possibly two or three months. The are discounted at a very small discount. Naturally the market for commercial paper is very limited. There is not a great deal of capital in circulation. Banks are not anxious at all to lend money on commercial paper. By putting this tax of five cents per hundred on each part of that note you will simply eliminate any possibility of any Pennsylvania business man discounting any commercial paper. There is an amount of commercial paper that will be absorbed by other states that possibly do not have this same provision, but it would be very apt in any event to force the Pennsylvania commercial paper entirely out of the market.

As far as the individual is concerned, the poor man or the business man or whatever it may happen to be, personally he is going to be soaked in exactly the same way as the business man or the business of any other man would. All in all it is an accumulative proposition that would not help anyone. It is, further, an obstruction to business. If you obstruct business further, you can't have employment. If you are going to make conditions so stringent or so impossible that a man simply says, "Well, times are bad enough now and if you are going to make them worse, I will simply shut up the establishment and get on the 'Dole Wagon'." Because when you hurt business there is less employment, not more.

I realize that this act is supposed to bring in five million dollars, but it is such a vicious proposition when you consider the fact that it is only going to bring in five million dollars of the two hundred and three million dollars that is needed, I think it is using bird shot to shoot elephants. We don't have to pass every bill that comes up on this floor, we represent a wide constituency. We have poor people, we have people on relief. we have men who are employed in various businesses, we have business men, we have to look out for the interests of every one of them, and we certainly can't be putting through further legislation like this bill. It is going to hurt the poor, it is going to hurt he business man, it is going to hurt every business situation, and we are trying to avoid that in order that good times may come back again.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in conversation with the Democratic floor leader, Mr. Furman, he advised me that the Attorney General stated that this act did not apply to insurance companies. While I have the highest respect for the opinion of the Attorney General, it is the opinion of some lawyers of insurance companies that this act does apply to them. It would, therefore, affect them in addition to the reasons regarding insurance that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McDevitt, gave; also a prepaid life insurance policy which is a contract to pay at some future time. I therefore would be opposed to this act for that reason.

Now in addition it is pretty hard upon the debtor who owes money to a bank. Many financial institutions require renewals of notes. Where they formerly have granted three or four months, they now require a monthly renewal. If it were a renewal note there is a twelve times five cents tax per year. This would put an unjust burden on the debtor who is trying to reduce his obligation at the financial institutions. I would be in favor of the former rate of two cents, but I am compelled to ask this House to vote against this bill for the reason of the amendment and also for the additional reason that I expressed before, the uncertain application to insurance companies. I feel justified therefore in asking this House to vote against this bill for the reasons I have stated, particularly those in regard to insurance companies and the unjust burden on a debtor who is trying to reduce his obligations in small amounts.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FURMAN, from the Committee on Ways and Means re-reported as amended, House Bill No. 925, entitled:

An Act to provide revenue for State and county purposes and in cities coextensive with counties for State and city and county purposes imposing taxes upon certain classes of personal property providing for the assessment collection and lien of the same and the distribution of the proceeds thereof imposing duties on executors administrators registers of wills recorders of deeds prothonotaries and court clerks and on persons copartnerships associations banks national banks trust companies and other corporations receiving deposits of money and on certain corporations and limited partnerships conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments imposing penalties and making an appropriation

Mr. TURNER from the Committee on Banking reported as committed House Bill No. 86.

RESOLUTION NO. 86

Mr. WITKIN asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of Resolution No. 86.

The resolution was twice read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 12, 1935.

Whereas, A number of bills have been introduced in the House and Senate having a single purpose—to provide for the abatement of penalties and interest, in whole or in part, on delinquent taxes if these delinquent taxes are paid; and

Whereas, Tax payers should be encouraged to pay their taxes in order that government may function, and legislation should be adopted at the earliest possible time to spur delinquent taxpayers to use every effort possible to pay their taxes; and

Whereas, Bills have passed the Senate and repose in House committees, bills have passed the House and repose in Senate committees, others are on the calendars and still others are in committee awaiting committee action; and

Whereas, It is apparent that confusion exists not only between the House and Senate as to the proper measure to be adopted, but as well among Members of the same House in passing more than one bill to accomplish substantially the same object; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Speaker appoint three Members of the House, and the Senate appoint three Members of the Senate, who together shall constitute a special committee, whose duty it shall be to draft a new bill or select and introduce a bill, either House or Senate, which in its present or an amended form the committee deems to be a proper measure on the subject of abating penalties and interest on delinquent taxes, and to make report thereof to the Senate and House of Representatives as early as possible.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker, I arise to a question of personal privilege. I request a moment or two to make a short statement in apology to this House.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I want to use about forty dollar's worth of your valuable time in making an apology to this House for a statement I am told I made yesterday during the discussion of the bill of the gentleman from Berks County. When I got back to my seat I was told that I made this statement: "Any member who voted "yes" on the bill ought to be tarred and feathered." I wish to retract that statement and say to you in all sincerity that what I intended to say or convey was this, that the farmers would feel like tarring and feathering any man who voted "yes" on the question.

I am very glad to have this opportunity of extending an apology for that statement. I want to say to you that I yield to no man in the idea that I believe in free speech, a free press and free thought, and I would be the last man in this House or anywhere else to question anybody's authority as to how he voted. Therefore I sincerely apologize to you for that statement.

While I am on my feet, let me say further that I stood on the floor of the House about five minutes yesterday with my hand up trying to get the recognition of the Chair to make this speech,shortly after I had made that statement, and didn't succeed in attracting the Chair's attention. I feel that we should have a rule added to our set of rules and that is, if a member stands on his feet and holds up his hand for five minutes the Speaker should be required to recognize him.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privileges will be spread upon the Journal.

RESOLUTION NO. 65

Mr. MURRIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 65, Printer's No. 283.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 19, 1935.

Whereas, Potato growers in this State are unable to market their crops due in large measure to the fact that stores at which relief orders are cashed, or that fill orders given by the State Emergency Relief Board or its agencies, or by Federal Emergency Relief Administration, or its agencies placing orders for the Civilian Conservation Corps deal mainly in potatoes grown in other states which are more closely graded; and

Whereas, Pennsylvania potatoes are the equal of those grown in other states, are readily available in local markets and their purchase avoids the necessity and expense of transportation; and

Whereas, Pennsylvania potato growers are entitled to their share of the business resulting from the expenditure of Federal and State relief moneys; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives earnestly request the State Emergency Relif Board, the Federal Emergency Relief Administration, and their agencies and Pennsylvania merchants to cooperate in an endeavor to arrange for the purchase of potatoes grown in the communities in which money is expended for relief in order to aid farmers in the various communities in disposing of their crops and thereby to secure sufficient moneys to pay for chattel mortgages on crops and to pay taxes,

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the State Emergency Relief Board and the Federal Emergency Relief Administration by the Chief Clerk of this House.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resoluiton?

It was adopted.

EXTENDING SYMPATHY ON DEATH OF HON. JAMES SLINGHUFF BOYD

Mr. FORREST offered the following resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read by the Clrek as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 13th, 1935.

Whereas, Ominous reports in the public press concerning the health of our associate of the Senate did not prepare the members of this body for the startling news of the death this morning of Senator James Slinghuff Boyd, from bronchial pneumonia, at the age of fifty-one years, eight months and two days; and

Whereas, The national and international experiences of Senator Boyd in such widely diversified activities as the banking business, the real estate business and as a publisher rendered him peculiarly fitted to represent the people of this Commonwealth in the manifold problems before the General Assembly; and

Whereas, His long service as a legislator in this House and in the Senate, over which he presided as President pro tempore during the Special Session of 1932 and the Regular Session of 1933, added to his general ability a profound and most useful knowledge of parliamentary law, therefore be it

Resolved, That the untimely death of James Slinghuff Boyd deprives the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of the services of one whose unusual experience and training rendered him invaluable during the present troubulous times, and be it further

Resolved, That the loss we feel as members of the General Assembly from the passing of the Senator, is no greater than the loss we feel as men from the passing of the man, a friend, whose personality endeared him to all and made easier and more pleasant the labors and deliberations of both bodies; and be it further

Resolved, That to those whose loss is greater than ours, the members of his immediate family, we extend our deepest sympathy, fully realizing how futile such action is to alleviate their sorrow; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House to the widow of the said James Slinghuff Boyd.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. EDERER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the death of Senator James Boyd of Montgomery County comes as a very great shock to all of us. He was dearly beloved by all who knew him. Senator Boyd was a former member of this House and had risen to the high position of President pro tempore of the Senate of Pennsylvania. In his death the citizenry of Montgomery County have suffered a tremendous loss. The people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania have likewise suffered a great loss. The Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has lost a valuable, esteemed and lovable member. The heritage which he leaves behind him can be the only solace to his family and to his friends. I therefore ask Mr. Speaker, that this House rise in adopting this resolution.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted by a rising vote.

PRINTING ADDITIONAL COPIES OF HOUSE BILL NO. 494

Mr. PERRY asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted.

In the House of Representatives, March 13, 1935.

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk be directed to have printed five hundred additional copies of House Bill No. 494, entitled "An act relating to and regulating the practice of the healing profession of chiropractice and the licensure and registration of practitioners therein; creating a Chiropractic Board, Examination and Licensure in the Department of Public Instruction; and defining its powers and duties; and providing penalties," for the use of the House of Representatives.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. At the request of the Chief Clerk, the Chair wishes to make this important announcement: Many members of the House, not realizing that the House stenographic force consists of but eight stenographers, are trying to make replies to every postal card and circular letter sent to them for or against particular bills.

When it is considered that some of these circular letters run into the thousands it can be seen that it is physically impossible for the limited stenographic force to take care of these requests. It is perfectly proper to leave an order to mimeograph a letter and have it run off in any quantity but after this work is done the stenographers should not be asked to address the envelopes or insert the names of the persons to whom the letters are to go. One member, for instance, has asked that four thousand letters be answered. This is not only unreasonable, but impossible. The stenographic force of the House has been created for the purpose of taking care of the ordinary mail of the members; they cannot even attempt to put in their working hours on handling replies to circular letters and postal cards. This word of caution does not originate from any complaint by the stenographic force but grows out of the protest of members whose personal work cannot be looked after by reason of the request of those who would have circular letters and postal cards answered.

The Speaker might state to the new members, particularly, that constituents who send out circular letters and postal cards rarely, if ever, expect a reply.

I hope the members of the House will heed this important matter so that each and every member will have ample opportunity to have his work done without other members indirectly encroaching upon their privileges.

The Speaker and the Chief Clerk are fully aware of the fact that this situation is due entirely to thoughtlessness of certain members, not selfishness—, but it has reached such a serious point that there is more than a probability of the work in the stenographic room breaking down entirely unless something is done. Hence this statement and urgent request to the members to not ask House stenographers to handle circular letter mail.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in in this case dispensed with

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 927 as follows:

An Act to preserve the purity of the waters of the Commonwealth and to avoid the danger of fire by requiring the owners operators and lessees of abandoned bituminous coal mines and workings to seal the entries and air shafts thereof and conferring powers upon the Department of Mines to carry into effect the provisions of this act

Whereas It is a known fact that the combination of oxygen and water is necessary to liberate the sulphuric acid content from the pyrites of iron and sulphur in coal seams thus making mine water discharge impure and also that the caving in of pit mouths thus cutting off the air shortly makes the seepage coming from the abandoned mine again pure therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That it shall be the duty of each and every owner operator or lessee of any abandoned bituminous coal mine or abandoned working which is discharging polluted water which flows into any of the streams or rivers of this Commonwealth or which is in danger of being set afire to shoot down or otherwise seal the entries and air shafts of such abandoned coal mine or working for the purpose of cutting off the supply of air from the abandoned mine or working

Section 2 In case any such owner operator or lessee of any such abandoned bituminous coal mine or working shall fail neglect or refuse to seal the openings of the same within sixty days after notice so to do by the Department of Mines it shall be the duty of said Department to enter upon the land or lands where the enries and air shafts to such abandoned mines or workings are located and to shoot down or otherwise seal such openings as provided by this act and to collect the expense incurred by it including any damage caused thereby to the owner of the surface by suit in a court of competent jurisdiction from such owner operator or lessee

Section 3 Where the owner operator or lessee of any such abandoned bituminous coal mine or working is unknown not in being or his or its whereabouts unknown then in such case the Department of Mines is hereby authorized to enter upon the land or lands where the entries and air shafts to such mines or workings are located and shoot down or otherwise seal such openings the cost thereof including any damage caused thereby to the owner of the surface to be paid by the Commonwealth from appropriations made to the Department of Mines

Section 4 Upon complaint of any individual or political subdivision whose interests are affected by such polluted mine water discharge it shall be the duty of the Department of Mines to notify the owner operator or lessee of such abandoned coal mine or working and upon his or its failure to shoot down or otherwise seal the entries of such mines or workings to enter upon the property and perform the work necessary to bring about such sealing as provided for in sections two and three of this act

Section 5 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,
Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in in this case dispensed with

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1028 as follows:

An Act relating to collections of county and poor taxes in counties of the third class

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That all county and poor authorities in counties of the third class shall on or before the first day of June of each year issue their duplicate of taxes assessed to the collector of taxes for county and poor purposes with their warrants attached directing and authorizing him to collect the taxes therein assessed and levied

Section 2 The collector of county and poor taxes shall settle his duplicate on or before the first day of June of each year for the preceeding calendar year

Section 3 If any such tax collector fails to accept such duplicates or settle the same in accordance with the provisions of this act his office as tax collector shall be declared vacant and such vacancy shall be filled as now provided by law.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in in this case dispensed with

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1243 as follows:

An Act to amend title of and to add section three to the act approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three (Pamphlet Laws fifty-two) entitled "An act to protect miners in the bituminous coal regions of this Commonwealth" so as to protect miners from fraudulent deprivation of wages providing standard measurements for coal mined and prohibting the use of other standards providing methods for the ascertainment of proper measurements and imposing penalties

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the title of the act approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three (Pamphlet Laws fifty-two) entitled "An act to protect miners in the bituminous coal regions of this Commonwealth" is hereby amended to read as follows

An act to protect miners in the bitumnious coal regions of this Commonwealth from fraudulent deprivation of wages providing standard measurements for coal mined and prohibiting the use of other standards providing methods for the ascertainment of proper measurements and imposing penalties

Section 2 That said act is hereby amended by adding thereto section three to read as follows

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Section 4, amend page 8, line 11, by adding sub-section (d):—"None of these taxes shall be levied on the established prices charged for admission of chlidren twelve years of age or under."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker and Members of this House, this measure is designed to produce revenue for the State of Pennsylvania in an emergency. If this amendment is adopted, it will have the effect of cutting down that revenue which it has been estimated will be received by the State as the result of the passage of this bill, as introduced. I believe that the children when they have enough money to go into a place of amusement will also have enough money to pay one cent on a ten cent admission charge. This amendment will defeat one of the major purposes of this bill, and I therefore ask the members of this House to vote down this amendment.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker may I interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny Mr. Eberharter?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker can the gentleman from Allegheny inform this House what decrease there will be in the estimated revenue produced by this bill if this amendment is adopted.

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker in answer to the gentleman from Philadelphia, I wish to state that I do not have at the present time the information available as to any decrease that will be occasioned if this amendment is adopted. However, there is a large number of children who go to places of amusement, where they pay ten cents and fifteen cents and twenty cents, and in most of those cases, in practically all of them, the admission fee is given to them by their parents and I do not see why they should be exempted from the payment of this tax.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Allegheny think that the plight of the Commonwealth is so desperate that they must take away the pennies from the children?

Mr. EBERHARTER. In answer to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Speaker, I do not believe that this will be taking pennies from the children. As I stated in answer to his previeus question, the admission fee is generally or always paid by the parents or the guardians of the children and, therefore, it will not affect the children directlly very much.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House I do not think that this act or the practical application of this act will result in depriving any of the children of their pennies. We have heard of the child who finds it hard enough to get a dime let alone getting the extra penny and that is perfectly correct.

Let us be practical in this matter. In the small amusement places, the small admissions, this tax will be absorbed by the places of amusement themselves. They are not going to add an additional tax on the children's amusements. That is good business, good merchandising, and a practical method of meeting the problem. They are going to assume this tax, whether it be small or large. The exact figure I do not know at the moment, but whatever it is, it will not impose any hardships whatsoever upon children of twelve who are attending the moving pictures, and I do say, in answer to the gentleman from Philadelphia that while the plight of Pennsylvania is not so great that it be necessary to take the pennies from the children, the plight of Pennsylvania is of such magnitude that it is necessary to impose this additional tax upon the places of amusement, where the tax will fall and where it will be paid.

Mr. VAN SICKLE. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman's objection can easily be met by saying it is taking pennies from the more fortunate children to buy bread, butter and milk for the less fortunate children.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BLUMBERG and Mr. WICKERSHAM.

Mr. EDERER. Mr. Speaker, this roll was called so hurridly and there was so much confusion in the House it was impossible to properly record the names. I, therefore, ask for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The fifth to the nineteenth sections inclusive and title were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 5 (a) Producers shall collect the tax imposed by this act and shall be liable to the Commonwealth as taxpayers for the payment of the same into the State Treasury through the department as hereinafter provided in this act

(b) Where permits are obtained for conducting temporary amusements by persons who are not the owners lessess or custodians of the places where the amusements are to be conducted or where the temporary amusement is permitted by the owner lessee or custodian of any place to be conducted without the procurement of a permit or permits required by this act the tax imposed by this act shall be paid by the owner lessee or custodian (except the Commonwealth or any political subdivision thereof) of such place where such temporary amusement is held or conducted unless paid by the producer conducting the amusement

Section 6 For the purpose of ascertaining the amount of tax payable by producers to the Commonwealth it shall be the duty of

(a) Every producer except as hereinafter provided conducting a place of amusement on or before the tenth day of each month to transmit to the department on a form prescribed and prepared by the department a report under oath or affirmation of the amount of tax collected by him during the preceding month

(b) Every producer conducting a temporary place of amusement or itinerant form of amusement shall file a report with the department or any duly authorized agent thereof promptly after each performance where only one performance is conducted at one place on one day and in the event that more than one performance is conducted at one place on one day the report shall be made at the conclusion of the last performance conducted on such day Where performances are conducted at the same place for a period of more than one day and less than thirty days the report shall be made immediately after the termination of such period

All reports required under this section shall show such information as the department shall prescribe

Every producer at the time of making every report required by this section shall compute and pay to the department the taxes collected by him and due to the Commonwealth during the period for which the report is made less a two per centum discount if the report is filed and the tax paid on time The amount of all taxes imposed under the provisions of this act shall in the case of places of permanent amusement be due and payable on the tenth day of the next succeeding month and in the case of temporary or itinerant forms of amusement it shall be due and payable on the day the reports in such cases are required to be made under this section and all such taxes shall bear interest at the rate of one per cent per month or fractional part of a month from the date they are due and payable until paid

If any producer shall neglect or refuse to make any report and payment as herein required an additional ten per centum of the amount of the tax shall be added by the department and collected as hereinafter provided in this act

Section 7 In the case of a producer conducting a temporary place of amusement or any form of itinerant amusement the department may through its duly authorized agent make personal demand upon such producer liable as a taxpayer for any taxes required to be collected by him under this act and require the report and payment thereof immediately upon the termination of any performance after which the taxes shall become due and payable by such producer Upon failure of such producer to make a proper report and pay the taxes due and payable the department may issue its warrant to its duly authorized agent authorizing and directing such agent to collect such tax by distraint and sale of the goods chattels and effects of such producer In any such case the authorized agent of the department shall make or cause to be made an account of the goods chattels and effects distrained a copy of which shall be left with such producer and shall forthwith cause notice of the time and place of the sale to be publicly posted upon the premises in which the distrained goods chattels or effects are located and in two other public places in the vicinity The time of sale shall not be less than ten nor more than twenty days from the date of such distraint It shall be unlawful for such producer to remove molest or otherwise intermeddle with the goods chattels and effects so distrained at any time after such distraint and before the sale thereof Upon any sale under a distraint as authorized under this section the amount of the tax shall after deducting the expenses of such sale and all prior liens upon the property be first appropriated out of the proceeds thereof to the payment of the tax In any case of distraint for the payment of any taxes under this act the goods chattels or effects so distrained shall be restored to such producer if prior to the sale payment of the amount due is made to the duly authorized agent of the department Upon any such sale the bill of sale of the agent conducting the same shall be prima facie evidence of the right of the agent to make such sale and conclusive of the regularity of his proceedings in making the sale and shall transfer to the purchaser all right title and interest of such delinquent producer in and to the property sold

Section 8 (a) If the department is not satisfied with the report and payment of tax made by any producer under the provisions of this act it is hereby authorized and empowered to make a determination of the tax due by such producer based upon the facts contained in the report or upon any information within its possession or that shall come into its possession.

(b) Promptly after the date of any such determination the department shall send or furnish a copy thereof to such producer by mail or otherwise Within ten (10) days after the date of any such determination such producer may file with the department a petition for redetermination of such tax Every petition for redetermination shall state specifically the reasons which the petitioner believes entitle him to such redetermination and shall be supported by affidavit that it is not made for the purpose of delay and that the facts therein set forth are true It shall be the duty of the department within ninety (90) days after the date of any determination to dispose of any petition for redetermination Notice of the action taken upon any petition for redetermination shall be given to the petitioner promptly after the date of redetermination by the department

Section 9 Within ten (10) days after notice by the department of the action taken on any petition for redetermination filed with it the producer against whom such determination was made may by petition request the Board of Finance and Revenue to review such action Every petition for review filed hereunder shall state specifically the reason upon which the petitioner relies and shall be in such form as the Board of Finance and Revenue shall prescribe The petition shall be supported by affidavit that it is not made for the purpose of delay and that the facts therein set forth are true The Board of Finance and Revenue shall dispose of such petitions filed with it within ninety (90) days after they have been received and in the event of the failure of said board to dispose of any such petition within ninety (90) days the action taken by the department upon the petition for redetermination shall be deemed sustained The Board of Finance and Revenue may sustain the action taken on the petition for redetermination or it may redetermine the tax due upon such basis as it shall deem according to law and equity Notice of the action of the Board of Finance and Revenue shall be given by mail or otherwise to the department and to the petitioner

Section 10 The department or any person aggrieved by the decision of the Board of Finance and Revenue or by the board's failure to act upon its petition for review within ninety (90) days may within sixty (60) days appeal to the court of common pleas of the county in which the place of amusement where the tax in controversy was collected is located from the decision of the Board of Finance and Revenue or from the decision of the department as the case may be in the manner now or hereafter provided by law for appeals in the case of tax settlement

Section 11 If any producer shall neglect or refuse to make any report and payment of tax required by this act the department shall estimate the tax due by such producer and determine the amount due by him for taxes penalties and interest thereon as prescribed herein from which determination there shall be no right of review or appeal

Section 12 The department or any agent appointed in writing by it is hereby authorized to examine the books papers tickets ticket stubs and records of any producer taxable under this act to verify the accuracy of any report or payment made under the provisions of this act or to ascertain whether or not the taxes imposed by this act have been paid but any information gained by the department as the result of the reports investigations or verifications herein required to be made shall be confidential and any person divulging such information shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall upon conviction thereof be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100.00) nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) and costs of prosecution or to undergo imprisonment of not more than one year or both in the discretion of the court

Section 13 A The department may from time to time make such regulations not inconsistent with this act as it may deem necessary for the efficient administration of this act The department shall cause such regulations to be disseminated through the Commonwealth in such manner as it shall deem necessary and advisable Such regulations adopted by the department shall have the same force as if they formed a part of this act

B Subject to the provisions of this act and without limiting the general power conferred by the preceding subsection the department may make regulations regarding

(a) the form of and the manner of collecting tickets passes or admission cards to be used for admission to places of amusement

(b) the records to be kept by producers to show fully the amount of taxes required to be collected by them under this act which records shall be kept by such producers for a period of two years

(c) the establishment of places within the Commonwealth where reports and payment of taxes collected by producers under this act may be filed or made

(d) the return of any tax collected by a producer where a refund is made by him of the established price charged at any place of amusement the amount of tax so returned to be credited against the amount of tax reported in any subsequent report

Section 14 (a) All taxes herein imposed due and unpaid together with the interest and penalties thereon shall be considered a public account after being determined in the manner prescribed in this act and as such shall be a lien upon the franchises or property both real and personal of any producer after the same has been entered and indexed of record by the prothonotary of the county where the producer's franchises or property are situated

(b) The department may at any time transmit through the prothonotaries of the respective counties of the Commonwealth to be by them entered of record ceritfied copies of all liens for taxes collected or required to be collected by producers under the provisions of this act and penalties and interest thereon upon which record it shall be lawful for writs of scire facias to issue and be prosecuted to judgment and execution in the same manner as such writs are ordinarily employed

Section 15 Should any producer attempt to conduct a place of amusement without obtaining a permit as required by this act or continue to conduct any place of amusement after his permit therefor shall have been suspended or revoked then the department may through the Department of Justice bring an action to restrain such person from conducting such place of amusement Such action shall be brought in the name of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and shall be brought and tried as an action in equity and may be brought in any court having jurisdiction to hear and determine equity cases within the county where the place of amusement is located If it is made to appear by affidavit or otherwise to the satisfaction of the court that the producer is violating the provisions of this act in the manner aforesaid a temporary writ of injunction shall forthwith issue restraining the producer from conducting the place of amusement until the terms of this act are fully complied with No bond shall be required in instituting such proceedings If such producer shall refuse to obtain a permit and otherwise comply with the provisions of this act within a time to be fixed by the court the court may make such injunction permanent until such time as the producer shall comply with the provisions of this act

Section 16 All taxes interest fines and penalties received collected or recovered under the provisions of this act shall be paid into the General Fund of the State Treasury by and through the Department of Revenue

Section 17 Any person who shall continue to conduct or shall hereafter begin to conduct a permanent or temporary place of amusement or any form of itinerant amusement without first obtaining an amusement permit or permits as required by this act or who shall fail to collect the tax required by this act to be paid by persons attending or engaging in the amusement conducted by such person or who shall knowingly submit any false or fraudulent report required under this act or who shall fail to make any report and payment of tax required by this act or who shall otherwise violate any of the provisions of this act or any rule or regulation of the department adopted and promulgated under this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall upon conviction thereof be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100.00) nor more than three hundred dollars ($300.00) and costs of prosecution or to undergo imprisonment for not more than six months or both in the discretion of the court

Section 18 The provisions of this act are severable and if any of its provisions shall be held unconstitutional the decision of the court shall not affect or impair any of the remaining provisions of this act It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provisions not been included herein

Section 19 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment and shall continue in effect until and including the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven

(d) The department may suspend or after hearing revoke a tobacco permit whenever it finds that the holder thereof has failed to comply with any of the provisions of this act or any rules or regulations of the department prescribed adopted and promulgated under this act Upon suspending or revoking any tobacco permit the department shall request the holder thereof to surrender to it immediately all permits or duplicates thereof issued to him and the holder shall surrender promptly all such permits to the department as requested Whenever the department suspends a tobacco permit it shall notify the holder immediately and afford him a hearing if desired and if a hearing has not already been afforded After such hearing the department shall either rescind its order of suspension or good cause appearing therefor shall continue the suspension or revoke the permit

Section 4 A State excise tax is hereby imposed and assessed upon sales of tobacco by dealers at the rate of one-half cent for each five cents or fractional part thereof of the retail selling price except such sales of tobacco as are not within the taxing power of this Commonwealth under the commerce clause of the Constitution of the United States Provided That only one sale of the same package of tobacco shall be used in computing the amount of tax due hereunder

Except as hereinafter provided dealers shall be liable to the Commonwealth as taxpayers for the payment of the tax imposed by this act and shall pay the tax into the State Treasury through the department by purchasing from the department adhesive stamps of such design and denominations as may be prescribed by the department

Manufacturers of tobacco located either within or outside of this Commonwealth and wholesale dealers in tobacco located outside of this Commonwealth may purchase stamps from the department and affix such stamps in the manner hereinafter prescribed to packages of tobacco to be sold within this Commonwealth in which case the dealer within this Commonwealth receiving such stamped packages of tobacco will not be required to purchase and affix stamps on such packages of tobacco

Section 5 Each dealer shall affix within the time hereinafter prescribed to each package of tobacco stamps furnished by and purchased from the department evidencing the payment of the tax imposed by this act and shall cancel such stamps before such tobacco is offered for sale or before it is otherwise disposed of unless stamps have been affixed to such packages of tobacco before such dealer received them Each wholesale dealer in this Commonwealth shall affix such stamps to each package of tobacco unless such stamps shall have been previously affixed thereto and shall cancel the same in the manner prescribed by the department prior to the delivery of such packages to any detail dealer in this Commonwealth

Each retail dealer in this Commonwealth shall immediately upon the receipt of any tobacco at his place of business so affix such stamps to each package of tobacco unless such stamps shall have been previously affixed thereto and shall cancel the same in the manner prescribed by the department or shall immediately mark in ink on each unopened box carton or other container of such tobacco the word "received" and the month day and year of such receipt and shall affix his signature thereto The retail dealer shall in any event open such box carton or other container and immediately affix such stamps to each package therein and cancel the same in the manner prescribed by the department within twenty-four hours after such receipt and prior to the sale of such tobacco

Whenever any tobacco is found in the place of business of such retail dealer without the stamps affixed and cancelled or not marked as having been received within the preceding twenty-four hours as required by this section the prima facie presumption shall arise that such tobacco is kept therein in violation of the provisions of this act

Stamps shall be affixed to each package of tobacco of an aggregate denomination not less than the amount of the tax upon the contents therein and shall be affixed in such manner that they will be torn and mutilated when the package is opened Upon affixing stamps to a package of tobacco the person affixing them shall cancel them by such method or in such manner as may be prescribed by the department

Section 6 The department shall prescribe prepare and furnish adhesive stamps of such denominations and quantities as may be necessary for the payment of the tax imposed and assessed by this act The department shall make provisions for the sale of such stamps in such places and at such times as it may deem necessary

The department may appoint persons within or without the Commonwealth as agents for the sale of stamps to be used in paying the tax herein imposed upon sales of tobacco and whenever the department shall sell consign or deliver to any such agent any such stamps for sale or use such agent shall be entitled to receive as compensation for his services and expenses as such agent and to retain out of the moneys to be paid by him for such stamps a commission of two per centum on the par value thereof The department is hereby authorized and required to allow such commission or compensation in the settlement of the accounts of such agent upon payment by him into the State Treasury through the department of any moneys which may be or become due to the Commonwealth by reason of the sale delivery or consignment to such agent of such stamps

Section 7 Every person engaged in the sale of tobacco at wholesale or at retail within this Commonwealth shall maintain and keep for a period of two years such record or records of tobacco received sold and delivered within this Commonwealth by him together with invoices bills of lading and other pertinent papers as may be required by the department

The department or any agent appointed in writing by it is hereby authorized to examine the books papers invoices and other records the stock of tobacco in and upon any premises where the same is placed stored and sold and equipment of any such wholesale or retail dealer pertaining to the sale and delivery of tobacco taxable under this act to verify the accuracy of the payment of the tax imposed and assessed by this act Every such person is hereby directed and required to give to the Secretary of Revenue or his duly authorized representative the means facilities and opportunity for such examinations as are hereby provided and required

Section 8 The department is hereby charged with the enforcement of the provisions of this act and is hereby authorized and empowered to prescribe adopt promulgate and enforce rules and regulations relating to

(a) The method and the means to be used in the cancellation of stamps

(b) The denominations and sale of stamps

(c) The diverse methods and conditions of sale of tobacco in this Commonwealth prescribing in each class of cases upon whom as between the wholesale dealer and the retail dealer the primary duty of affixing stamps shall rest and

(d) Any other matter or thing pertaining to the administration and enforcement of the provisions of this act

Section 9 The tax imposed by this act shall be in lieu of the mercantile license tax heretofore imposed upon the business of selling tobacco

Section 10 Whenever any tobacco upon which stamps have been placed by a dealer has been sold and shipped by him into another state for sale or use therein or h become unfit for use and consumption or unsaleable or has been destroyed such dealer shall be entitled to a refund of the actual amount of tax paid by him with respect to such tobacco If the department is satisfied that any dealer is entitled to a refund it shall certify the proposed amount of such refund to the Board of Finance and Revenue for approval and thereafter shall issue to such dealer stamps of sufficient value to cover the refund as approved by the board The department is hereby authorized to adopt prescribe and promulgate such rules and regulations with regard to the presentation and proof of claim for refunds as it may deem advisable

Section 11 Every person other than a common carrier or the employes thereof who shall possess or transport any tobacco upon the public highways roads or streets of this Commonwealth for the purpose of delivery sale or disposition shall be required to have in his actual possession invoices or delivery tickets for such tobacco The absence of such invoices or delivery tickets shall be prima facie evidence that such person is a dealer in tobacco in this Commonwealth and subject to the provisions of this act

Section 12 (a) Any person who shall sell tobacco without being the holder of a tobacco permit or permits as required by this act or without purchasing and affixing stamps to each package thereof as required by this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced for the first offense to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100.00) or more than one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) or to suffer imprisonment for a term not exceeding six (6) months or both in the discretion of the court and in the case of a conviction of a second or subsequent offense hereunder shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than five hundred dollars ($500.00) or more than one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) and to suffer imprisonment for a term not less than six (6) months or more than three (3) years

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in in this case dispensed with

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 839, entitled:

An Act to amend sections four and ten of the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws one hundred forty-nine) entitled "An act imposing a State tax payable by those herein defined as distributors on liquid fuels used or sold and delivered within the Commonwealth which are ordinarily practically and commercially usable in internal combustion engines for the generation of power providing for the collection and lien of the tax and the distribution and use of the proceeds thereof requiring such distributors to secure permits to file corporate surety bonds and reports and to retain certain records imposing duties on retail dealers common carriers county commissioners and such distributors providing for rewards imposing certain costs on counties conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments providing for refunds imposing penalties and making an appropriation" by increasing said tax for a limited period of time and providing for the distribution thereof

The first section was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That sections four and ten of the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws one hundred forty-nine) entitled "An act imposing a State tax payable by those herein defined as distributors on liquid fuels used or sold and delivered within the Commonwealth which are ordinarily practically and commercially usable in internal combustion engines for the generation of power providing for the collection and lien of the tax and the distribution and use of the proceeds thereof requiring such distributors to secure permits to file corporate surety bonds and reports and to retain certain records imposing duties on retail dealers common carriers county commissioners and such distributors providing for rewards imposing certain costs on counties conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments providing for refunds imposing penalties and making an appropriation" are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 4 Imposition of Tax Exemptions and Deductions A permanent tax of three cents a gallon or fractional part thereof is hereby imposed and assessed upon all liquid fuels or sold and delivered by distributors within this Commonwealth excepting liquid fuels delivered to the United States government on presentation of a duly authorized United States government exemption certificate or other evidence satisfactory to the department and such liquid fuels used or sold and delivered as are not within the taxing power of this Commonwealth under the Commerce Clause of the Constitution of the United States Providing That the tax herein imposed and assessed shall be collected by and paid to the Commonwealth but once in respect to any liquid fuels

In addition to such tax an additional emergency State tax of two cents a gallon or fractional part thereof is hereby imposed and assessed upon all liquid fuels used or sold and delivered by distributors within this Commonwealth as aforesaid for the period commencing on the day this act becomes effective and ending on the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven

Distributors shall be liable to the Commonwealth as taxpayers for the payment of the tax imposed by this act

The tax shall be payable upon liquid fuels sold and delivered to or used by the Commonwealth and every political subdivision thereof

Each distributor who shall promptly pay on or before the last day of a particular month the tax due for the preceding month shall be allowed in consideration of leakage spillage shrinkage evaporation and any expense to which he may be put in carrying out the provisions of this act a discount of two per centum on the aggregate amount of tax which is payable by the distributor for such preceding month The discount may be deducted by the distributor from the amount of tax payable for such month

Section 10 Disposition and Use of Tax (a). One-half cent per gallon of the permanent tax collected under the provisions of this act shall be paid into the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund of the State Treasury and such moneys paid into said fund are hereby specifically appropriated for the purposes hereinafter set forth

The moneys so paid into the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund except those that are refunded as hereinafter provided shall be paid to the respective counties of this Commonwealth on the first day of June and December of each year in the ratio that the average return made during the three (3) preceding years to each county bears to the average amount returned to all counties for the three preceding years Provided That the distribution of tax to the counties from the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund that is payable the first day of August one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one shall be made under the provisions of the acts of Assembly repealed by this act

All moneys received by the counties hereunder shall be used only for the purpose of construction reconstruction maintenance and repair of roads highways and bridges including the payment of property damage now due or hereafter to become due occasioned by or the relocation or construction of highways and bridges and for the payment of interest on bonds issued for highways and bridge purposes The county commissioners of each county shall make to the department on or before the first day of May and November of each year on forms prescribed prepared and furnished by the department a report showing the receipts and expenditures of such moneys received during the preceding six months by the county from the Commonwealth under the provisions of this section Such reports shall be transmitted to the Department of the Auditor General for audit Upon the failure of the county commissioners to file any such report the department shall withhold further payments to the county out of the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund until the delinquent report is filed

(b) The remaining two and one-half cents per gallon of the tax collected under the provisions of this act all penalties and interest and all interest earned on deposits of the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund shall be paid into the Motor License Fund and are hereby specifically appropriated for the same purposes for which moneys in the Motor License Fund are appropriated by law

(c) The entire amount of the additional emergency tax of two cents per gallon or fractional part thereof collected under the provisions of this act shall be paid into the General Fund

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 23, by insering after the word "permanent" the following:

State

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to,

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means for the purpose of further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this measure was introduced on February 12 and was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means the next day. Since that time the Committee has held public hearings and has given this measure every consideration. I ask, therefore, that the members of the House vote down this motion to recommit, as I can see no valid reason for supporting such a motion. The finances of the State of Pennsylvania are in a critical situation.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman is willing to discuss the merits of the bill, I have no objection to his so doing provided he will permit me so to do. If not, I raise the point of order that he should be confined to discussing the motion to recommit.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will not permit a discussion upon the merits of the bill. The discussion must be limited to the motion to recommit.

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House my reason for stating that the finances of the state were in a critical situation was for the purpose of showing the members of this House that is necessary to get this measure through quickly, and this motion to recommit will delay the matter. Therefore, I ask the members to vote down the motion to recommit.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House the reason that this motion is made must be quite apparent and patent to every member of this House. This bill was reported out of committee yesterday and by a suspension of the rules—a rather extraordinary procedure on so important a matter of legislation—received first reading late last night. It is now upon second reading.

I do not know whether or not my Democratic friends have received the storm of protests from every corner of the Commonwealth to the effect that we have acted too hastily, that we are proceeding too fast upon a measure of taxation such as this, but on this side of the House we have been deluged, we have been sought out in an endeavor to give the people of the Commonwealth a further opportunity to voice their protests in the hope of making the members of this House realize the importance, the magnitude of this legislation. It is for the sole purpose of giving the people of the Commonwealth, the Republicans, The Democrats and the Socialists, an opportunity to voice their protests, that I am asking you to send this bill back to committee. I am frank enough to state that when you members on the other side of the House come back here on Monday, I am not so sure whether or not the whip will crack you as you may be cracked this moment.

Mr. FURMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I wish to make a correction in the statement of Mr. Witkin. This bill was reported out from the committee on Ways and Means on Monday night, and in view of the fact that it was amended the rules could not be suspended to permit its being read for the first time. This bill was in the files yesterday morning and has been there since that time. Furthermore, this bill has been in committee about a week, a public hearing was held on this bill, hearing protests, and after that it received careful consideration by the committee. I ask the members of the House at this time to vote the motion down.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I want to thank the gentleman from Greene most profusely for correcting my error. I apologize to the members of the House for making that statement. I believed it to be correct at the time, but the gentleman is correct in his statement as to when the bill was reported out. However, everything else I said is O. K.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to th emotion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WITKIN and Mr. SOWERS.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The second section and title were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2 This act shall become effective the first day of the month succeeding its final enactment

An Act to amend sections four and ten of the act approved the twenty-first day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws, one hundred forty-nine), entitled "An act imposing a State tax, payable by those herein defined as distributors, on liquid fuels used or sold and delivered within the Commonwealth, which are ordinarily, practically, and commercially usable in internal combustion engines for the generation of power; providing for the collection and lien of the tax, and the distribution and use of the proceeds thereof; requiring such distributors to secure permits, to file corporate surety bonds and reports, and to retain certain records; imposing duties on retail dealers, common carriers, county commissioners, and such distributors; providing for rewards; imposing certain costs on counties; conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments; providing for refunds; imposing penalties; and making an appropriation," by increasing said tax for a limited period of time and providing for the distribution thereof.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 871, entitled:

An Act providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation of persons property and subjects of taxation for county city borough township school and poor purposes in counties of the second class and abolishing the existing board for the assessment and revision of taxes and the department of assessors in cities of the second class and the city assessor in cities of the third class in such counties

The first section was read and agreed to as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in each county of the second class there is hereby created a board to be designated as the board for the assessment and revision of taxes composed of seven persons citizens of the county The members of such board shall be appointed by the county commissioners of such county and shall hold their office for the term of four years from the first Monday of January one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six and the county commissioners shall fill all vacancies in the board for the unexpired term thereof Each member of such board shall receive a salary which shall be fixed by the salary board payable monthly out of the treasury of the county

The second section was read as follows:

Section 2 It shall be the duty of the board for the assessment and revision of taxes in each county of the second class to make and to have supervision of the making of all assessments and valuations of property whether real or personal taxable for county or city purposes and of all lists of residents and inhabitants as required by existing law and shall prepare and cause the publications or notices hereinafter directed to be made

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

They were agreed to,

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The fifth to the twentieth sections inclusive and title were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 5 The subordinate assessors shall make such assessments of property and occupations each year preceding the triennial assessment in such counties and shall file the same with the board for the assessment and revision of taxes on or before the first Monday of November of such year

Section 6 The board shall as provided by this act and by the provisions of existing law examine and revise the said assessments and valuations increasing or decreasing the same as in their judgment may seem proper and shall add thereto such property or subjects of taxation as may have been omitted After such revision the board shall by rule fix convenient times for the hearing of appeals from said assessments and valuations and after the hearing of said appeals and the making of whatever changes may be considered proper the valuations as so ascertained and revised unless changed in the manner hereinafter provided or as provided by existing law shall stand as the valuations for the assessments of all county city borough township school and poor taxes until the next triennial assessment

Section 7 When the triennial assessments shall be fixed either for the whole county or in districts thereof notice of that fact shall be given by publication of a list of all owners of real property showing the street number and street name if any the size of the lot assessed valuation of land and improvements thereon if any in one newspaper of general circulation as defined by the Newspaper Advertising Act of May sixteenth one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws one thousand seven hundred eighty-four) published in the city borough or township wherein such real property is located and if there be no such newspaper then by publication in a newspaper defined as aforesaid published within the county and circulating within the city borough or township and also in the legal newspaper in the county if any Said publication shall state the time when appeals will be heard and also give notice that copy of the assessments made in any borough or township shall be placed in a particular public place in each such borough or township by the assessor After the hearing of appeals the board shall take such action in regard thereto as may be right and proper

Section 8 After action on such assessments by the board for the assessment and revision of taxes any taxpayer dissatisfied with the assessment on his property may within sixty days after the board has held the appeals provided for by this act appeal therefrom to the court of common pleas of the said county as provided by existing law and it shall be the duty of the court at once to hear and determine said appeal and if necessary to make such changes therein as may be right and proper

Section 9 The subordinate assessors shall between the triennial assessments revise any assessments or valuation according to right and equity by correcting errors and by adding thereto any property or subjects of taxation which may have been omitted or any new property or subjects of taxation which may have come into being since the last triennial assessment In each such case the subordinate assessors shall in cities of the second class classify all real estate in such cities in such manner and upon such testimony as may be adduced before them so as to distinguish between the buildings on land and the land exclusive of the buildings

They shall also add thereto the names of any persons who may have moved into such district and strike therefrom the names of any person who have removed from such districts since the last triennial assessment

The assessors shall also revise assessments and valuations between the triennial assessments by increasing or decreasing the same where the value of the property or subjects of taxation assessed or valued has changed by reason of any change of conditions thereon or adjacent thereto or in the vicinity thereof or for the reason that the property assessed or valued has been subdivided or laid out into a plan of lots or other subdivisions or for the reason that improvements have been placed thereon or added thereto or for the reason that any public or other improvement has been made adjacent thereto or in the vicinity thereof or where for any other reason whatsoever the value of the property has changed and it seems to the board necessary and equitable to make a change in the valuation thereof The assessors shall also between the triennial assessments in all cases where it is apparent that any assessment is not in accord with the generality or uniform standard of assessments revise and correct the same by increasing or decreasing the same where the value of the property or subjects of taxation assessed do not conform to the generality or uniform standard of assessments Provided however That if such revision or correction of such assessment shall increase the amount thereof the owner of such subjects of taxation whose assessment has been so increased between the triennial assessments shall be given at least ten days' written notice of such revision or correction and have the right of appeal to the court of common pleas in the same manner provided in section ten of this act

All assessments required to be made by the subordinate assessors in the years between the triennial assessment shall be returned to the board for the assessment and revision of taxes not later than the first Monday of November of the year preceding the one for which it is made and the same notice by publication in newspapers of such assessments shall be made as required and directed for the triennial assessments

Section 10 At least ten days' written notice shall be given to any taxable person whose assessment shall be changed between triennial assessments setting forth any change which has been made and the time and place set for hearing objections thereto

Such notice shall be served by the board or any member thereof or by any subordinate assessor or by any other person authorized so to do by the board upon said taxable person if he or she can be found in the county or upon an adult person residing upon the property in question in case the taxable person cannot be found in the county

When no service is made upon the taxable person or upon an adult person residing upon the property assessed said notice shall be deemed to have been properly served if tacked or conspiculously posted upon the property assessed

No defect in service of any such notice shall be sufficient ground for setting aside any assessment so made but upon proof thereof being made the taxable person shall have the right to a rehearing before said board relative to said assessment and to appeal therefrom to the court of common pleas as hereinafter provided

Section 11 After the hearing of any objection thereto and the making of any changes that may be deemed proper the valuation as so ascertained shall unless changed in the manner herein provided or as provided by existing law stand as the valuations for the assessments for county city borough township school and poor taxes in such county until the next triennial assessment

Section 12 Any taxable person dissatisfied with changes made in any assessment in the years between the triennial may within thirty days after the final fixing of the same appeal to the court of common pleas of said county and it shall be the duty of the court at once to hear and determine said appeal and if necessary make such changes therein as may be right and proper

Section 13 No appeal taken from any such assessments shall affect the validity of any taxes assessed but if such assessment shall thereafter be reduced an exoneration shall be granted or restitution ordered for the excess of taxes paid by reason of any improper increase in the assessment

Section 14 Upon request by any taxpayer he shall at any time receive from the board a statement of his taxable property and its valuation

Section 15 When the said valuations and assessments have been made all taxation for county city borough township school and poor purposes within the limits of such county shall be based upon such valuations and the board for the assessment and revision of taxes shall certify to the councils of all cities in the county the aggregate valuation of city property in each of such cities subject to taxation for city purposes

Section 16 On the first Monday of January one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six the terms of all members of the board for the assessment and revision of taxes and of all subordinate assessors and clerks employed by the board in counties of the second class and of all members and employes of the department of assessors in cities of the second class and the city assessor in cities of the third class in such counties shall cease and terminate and the board for the assessment and revision of taxes as now constituted in counties of the second class and the department of assessors in cities of the second class and the office of city assessor in cities of the third class in such counties are hereby abolished It is the intent and meaning of this act that in counties of the second class there shall be but one assessment made for taxation purposes and that all county city borough township school and poor taxes shall be levied on the basis of such assessment

Section 17 The provisions of this act shall be severable and if any of the provisions shall be held to be unconstitutional such decision shall not affect the validity of any of the remaining provisions of this act It is hereby declared as the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provision not been included therein

Section 18 Except where inconsistent therewith this act does not repeal any of the provisions of the act approved the twenty-second day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred fifty-three) entitled "An act relating to taxation designating the subjects property and persons subject to and exempt from taxation for all local purposes providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation of persons property and subjects of taxation for county purposes and for the use of those municipal and quasi-municipal corporations which levy their taxes on county assessments and valuations amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto and repealing existing laws"

Section 19 The act approved the twenty-second day of July one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws one thousand ninety-three) entitled "An act creating in counties having a population of from eight hundren thousand to one million five hundred thousand a board for the assessment and revision of taxes providing for the appointment of the members of such board by the county commissioners fixing their salaries payable by the county defining the powers and duties of such board and regulating the assessment of property and occupations for State and county purposes authorizing the appointment of subordinate assessors and clerks defining their duties and providing for their compensation payable by such counties imposing a penalty on subordinate assessors for failure to comply with certain provisions of this act and abolishing the office of ward borough and township assessor in so far as respects the assessment of property and occupations for State and county purposes" and its amendments are hereby repealed

All other acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

Section 20 Except as to the appointment of the members of the board for the assessment and revision of taxes which may be done at any time after the final enactment of this act the provisions thereof shall become effective on the first Monday of January one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six Provided That this act shall not affect assessments made under existing laws as the basis of city taxes for the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six and such laws shall remain in force as long as may be necessary for such purpose

The House met at 10:00 o'clock A. M.

The SPEAKER (Wilson G. Sarig) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Reverend Marshall L. Shepard, a member of the House, offered the following prayer:

There are many people in this Commonwealth whose names have enriched the history of the Government of this State, who worshipped God in silence. May we observe a moment of silence. (A moment of silence was observed by the House).

May the words of our mouths and the meditations of our hearts be acceptable in Thy sight, O Lord our strength and our Redeemer. Amen.

RESOLUTION NO. 61

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 61, Printer's No. 282.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 19, 1935.

Whereas, there has been much criticism directed against the Board of Trustees and those in charge of the University of Pittsburgh, a state-aided educational institution, to the effect that their policies are such that they tend to deny academic freedom; and

Whereas, it is alleged that the attitude of these Authorities toward members of the faculty and student-body who hold liberal views, is antagonistic; and

Whereas, it has been charged that these Authorities have followed a policy tending to discourage freedom of thought and speech on the subject of economic philosophy; and

Whereas, it has been alleged that these Authorities have placed restrictions upon the members of the faculty and student-body, which restrictions practically constitute political partisanship; and

Whereas, it is estimated that approximately one-half of the operating expenses of the said University are contributed by the Comonwealth of Pennsylvania by appropriation of public funds; and

Whereas, the Board of Trustees of said University is a self-perpetuating body, on which body the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has only a nominal representation; and

Whereas, it is admitted by all that this institution of learning exerts a tremendous influence upon the thought and lives of the student-body, as well as upon the people of the community and of the state; and

Whereas, there has been created in the public mind, by reason of this criticism and these charges, a serious doubt as to the wisdom of continuing the policy of making large appropriations of public funds to this institution; therefore be it

Resolved, that the Speaker of the House of Representatives is hereby authorized to appoint five members of this House who are members of the Committee on Appropriations, whose duty it shall be to fully, fairly and impartially inquire into and investigate the attitude of the Board of Trustees and those in charge of the University of Pittsburgh toward members of the faculty and student-body who, both inside and outside the class-rooms, advocate liberal views and freedom of thought and expression in the subjects of economics and politics and other subjects wherein academic freedom should be allowed; and further, to inquire into and investigate all matters touching the said University of Pittsburgh which are pertinent to the question of making an appropriation of public funds, and to ascertain whether or not said institution is worthy of receiving further large appropriations of public funds;

Resolved, that said Committee shall make a report of its findings to the Committee on Appropriations as early as possible.

Resolved, that the said committee shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and to answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of said Committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before said committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I start out with a half apology for speaking on a resolution that vitally concerned the university that I attended, but not more than half of which resolution I could by any possibility hear and still less than that have any means of verifying it.

This resolution like many another that has been introduced in this House, contains an enormous preamble of assertions disparaging to the institution which I do not think any of the members here have had any opportunity or means of verifying or disestablishing.

I think it would be a great mistake with so many members of this House, including several men that I know who like myself graduated from the University of Pittsburgh, being absent to vote upon this resolution today.

MOTION TO TABLE

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to move that this resolution be tabled.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker, is a request at this time for a roll call in order?

The SPEAKER. It is in order.

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call.

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, would it be in order at this time for me to make a few remarks on this resolution.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is informed that remarks are out of order. A motion to table is not debatable.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, could I not, as a matter of personal privilege, make some remarks at this time?

The SPEAKER. There is nothing before the House except the motion to table.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. JONES and Mr. WICKERSHAM.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, unlike my good friend from McKean, I am not an alumnus nor was I ever a student at the University of Pittsburgh, but I do believe that the passage of a resolution of this kind and an investigation on a subject of this kind by his House is one of the worst things that could be done in the state of Pennsylvania.

I do not know the purpose of the sponsor of this resolution, for whom I have a great deal of respect and a great deal of regard, but I must believe that he has not thought his question through. Except on one occasion that I recall a number of years ago, I do not remember at any time that the Legislature has attempted to dictate the policies of any educational institution in Pennsylvania,—I mean higher educational institutions in Pennsylvania by reason of the appropriations that are made by the state to those institutions.

We know the history in a great many of our western and southern states where the state universities have been the football of politics in those states, where legislatures are continually exercising political control over the heads of the institutions, in the make up of their faculties and the policies of the institutions.

Certainly if we believe in progress, certainly if we believe in democracy, certainly if we believe in freedom of speech and freedom of thought, we certainly cannot believe that any legislative body by reason of a contribution toward part of the support of any university or any college in the state should have the right to dictate its policy or to inquire into the policies of its trustees and its board.

I do not know whether the University of Pittsburgh's board of trustees is constituted as is that of my alma mater, the University of Pennsylvania, but I do know that on the board of trustees of the University of Pennsylvania the Commonwealth is represented, because I believe that the Governor sits upon the board of trustees of the University of Pennsylvania.

I know further that in the University of Pennsylvania the Alumni elected members of the board of trustees, so that while in a sense the board of trustees of these universities are self-perpetuating bodies, as stated in this resolution, in another respect they are subject to change, and there is a way to change, and there is a way to make inquiry.

Let us look at it from another standpoint: I do not know what the total expenses of the University of Pittsburgh are for the biennium and I do not remember just exactly what the amount of the appropriation by the state to the University of Pittsburgh is, but I will say that it is safe to say that the amount contributed by the State of Pennsylvania to the University of Pittsburgh is not over fifteen per cent of the total amount of its revenue during the biennium period. I do not think it is as high as that, possibly not higher than six to eight per cent of its revenues during the biennium, and in return for that the State of Pennsylvania gets certain free scholarships to the university which certainly have a value, a monetary value to the people of the state in return for the money that is given.

In addition to that there is not one of these universities that is not contributing in research, in the gathering of statistics, in the study of social problems and making their contributions to the government of Pennsylvania.

At the present time the Governor of Pennsylvania has called upon the universities of Pennsylvania for many men who are cabinet officers or who are heading some of the Departments in our state government.

Are we, therefore, for a mere five or a mere six or a mere seven and a half or eight per cent,—or make it ten per cent of the cost of running this university, to have the right to stick our legislative nose into the affairs of these universities and to intimidate them in the policies that they shall pursue?

Now, members they may be pursuing a wrong policy, I do not know. The gentleman from Allegheny may be perfectly justified in submitting a resolution of this kind in one respect, in that he may be trying to correct something that is wrong, I know not, but members if we can pass this today to correct something that may seem to be wrong, tomorrow some other legislature may take this as a precedent to be able to go in there and create a wrong, and therefore I say to you we have no right to exercise our legislative influence as to the kind of policies that should be taught in the schools.

I remember a few years ago that there was a terrible Hullabaloo in the state of Pennsylvania because they said certain business interests were trying to get certain text books into our public schools, and hands were raised in horror that any business organization should attempt to influence the minds of the youth of the state.

I am not always in accord with the kind of teaching that goes on in the public schools. I have three boys in public school,—I am a product of the public schools myself. I have three boys in public school and they may come home with ideas and theories that are given them by their professors lots of times with which I do not agree, but I would consider it highly improper for me to go into that school and try to dictate the policies of the professors who teach my boys. I will try to teach them at home a different kind of policy I will try to show them another theory and hope that they will agree with me in my policy, but members, if you try to try to put the finger of the legislature into college and universities, if you accuse them of having political propoganda, remember you are opening the door to the worst kind of political propaganda in the State of Pennsylvania, and may the day never come when we in Pennsylvania, where it seems to me have always taken a broad and forward step, should put our fingers into universities because we give them a few paltry dollars

I hope the day will never come when we will follow in the footsteps of one of these other states that have made their universities the football of politics and dictate the policies of those universities to the shame of education.

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as there is a very large calendar this morning and I know that many of the members are anxious to get home, I am not going to take up quite as much time as my good friend Mr. Turner from Delaware County took up.

I want to assure the members of this House that in presenting this resolution I personally have no axe to grind. I want to assure the members of this House, the Republican the Socialist and the Democratic members of it that there is not one speck of politics involved in the introduction of this resolution.

This subject of the University of Pittsburgh and its freedom of thought in teaching has been a burning question in Allegheny for quite a considerable length of time. The University of Pittsburgh has been accused of being reactionary in all respects. I say to the members of this House that many of the members of the Assembly who are here today and who are graduates of this university want this resolution to pass. They have a high regard for the university, they have a high regard for the faculty and for the board of trustees, but nevertheless for the purpose of clearing up these charges they welcome this investigation, and I feel sure, ladies and gentlemen of this House, that the university professors, the faculty and the board of trustees themselves do welcome this investigation, because if these charges that have been made are not true, a legislative investigation will prove that.

I want to say this further, about one-half of all the operating expenses of that university are contributed by the State of Pennsylvania,—public monies. The State of Pennsylvania, as stated in the resolution, has only a nominal representation on the board of trustees, and when a board of trustees is expending, as they did in the last biennium $1,188,000 of public funds, I think it is a matter for the Appropriations Committee to see that this money is being properly spent for proper purposes.

Members of the House, I cannot understand why the Republican members of the House object to this resolution, I honestly cannot understand it. I think the university wants this investigation, and I think every member of the House ought to vote for it. The Appropriations Committee under the law has the right to investigate, anyhow, and I ask every member of the House to vote in favor of the resolution.

Mr. HINDMAN, Mr. Speaker and members of this House, I regret that I am neither oratorically nor from the standpoint of my larynx this morning able to go into this matter as I feel that I should. I first wish to pay my respects to my very good friend who introduced this resolution, and I am sure that I shall not question his motives. I am sure that he has the very best of motives in presenting it, because I believe that he is one of the straightest shooters that we have in this House, but, members of this assembly, I feel as the gentleman from Delaware feels, who so ably defended his position, that this is establishing a bad precedent for this house.

I happen to be an alumnus of the University of Pittsburgh, and I believe that many of you folks in this House, if you knew the conditions, would agree with me that this resolution is unnecessary. For a number of months there has been sporatic mention in the newspapers about the University; sometimes the papers would be full of the facts that Dr. Bowman, the dean of the University discharged one Professor Turner. I have it on very good authority that that matter was taken up. Dr. Bowman has been villified, he has been criticied by certain elements, the matter has been heralded all over the country. The real facts of the case are that this man was preaching atheism. I have it from the very best of authority that on one day he would come in and would decry the Jewish religion; the following day he would come in and he would decry the Catholic religion—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Eberharter will state his point of order.

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not confining himself to the resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is inclined, as heretofore stated, to permit a rather wide latitude in the discussion of resolutions and bills. The gentleman will proceed and keep within reasonable latitude in discussing the resolution.

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, that is what I have been trying to do. I am simply trying to show the members of this House, the real matter which led up, I presume, to the presentation of this fallacious resolution.

The following day he would pay his respects to the Protestants—decry them all.

Members of this House, those are the facts that are back of this whole business, and I wish to say to you that Dr. Bowman has been criticized as being despotic, as being a politician, as being a man that was unfit for that position, but I say to the members of this House from the very bottom of my heart that I believe Dr. Bowman to be one of the most outstanding educators in the state of Pennsylvania. If you have any question about that I wish you would go back over the last forty years and get the man's record, I wish you would be able to see what his achievements have been,—it has been one success after another and I wish to inform the members of this House that I know this to be the truth, that Dr. Bowman has been offered very much greater financial remuneration in other fields, but he has turned all of these down in order that he may go on with his work at this great university, which is destined to be one of the greatest universities of this whole country to ours.

The charge against Dr. Bowman that has been brought in the papers is that he is a despot, that he is not for the Common Student. I could cite you a number of instances in that respect. There have probably been ten or fifteen instances already this year where he has come to the rescue of a poor young fellow who was struggling for an education. He has helped those boys out—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Eberharter, will state his point of order.

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Washington, Dr. Hindman, is not confining himself to the resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would again state that the gentleman is permitted a wide latitude, but there is no instructor in the University of Pittsburgh on trial here, and the Chair feels that the gentleman has taken too wide a latitude. The gentleman will confine himself to discussing this resolution, whether this investigation should be held or not. There is no instructor of the University of Pittsburgh on trial here this morning.

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I was just trying to show the reasons which I thought were back of this resolution and to acquaint the members of this House with the facts back of it so that they could view the matter from a well informed and intelligent standpoint.

Mention has been made here of the appropriation which has been made to the University of Pittsburgh. Certainly it has been a large appropriation, and should be. They have ten thousand students there, and I submit to you folks that many of those students who attend that university from that district could not have had an education had it not been for the benefits of that university. As has already been stated, certainly some members of this House, many members have benefited by it.

I do hope, members of the House, before you do anything drastic along this line, my parting word is that you just investigate the facts for yourselves, and I believe you will see the matter as I do.

Mr. DENT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in order to set my own mind right in this matter I would like to interrogate the gentleman who introduced this resolution.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Eberharter, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. DENT. Mr. Speaker, did not the gentleman in his statement a while ago in defense of the resolution, say that the Committee on Appropriations has the right to investigate any school to which they make appropriations?

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, I believe that was stated by me in my remarks.

Mr. DENT. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman believe that; in making that statement does he believe it?

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman's question—

Mr. DENT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask if the gentleman believes the statement that he just made, giving him the right as a member, or any member of the Committee on Appropriations to demand an investigation in the Committee?

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, I believe that statement to be true, yes.

Mr. DENT. Mr. Speaker, not having had a whole lot of schooling,—I never had an opportunity to go to Pitt except to look at the beautiful paintings,—or any school for that matter; my schooling has been very limited, but I have always held the college just a little bit higher than some people want to hold it. An investigation of this kind, when that committee has a right to make an investigation, as stated by the man who introduced the resolution, I say why should we have to give them the permission which they ask if they already have it? If they have that power, why is this resolution necessary? Is it for purpose of publicity or for a matter of putting somebody somewhere? I do not see that we as members of this House must give something that is already given by the rules of procedure of this House.

If that committee is going to investigate and they have that right, this resolution is unnecessary. The gentleman is going to confine the investigation to the Committee on Appropriations. If the resolution called for a committee of the entire membership, then you may say that there was a desire to get some other men on the committee, but I understand by the resolution that it is confined to the membership of the Committee on Appropriations.

In fairness to yourselves just question why a resolution must be put into this House giving somebody something that they already have.

Mr. HART. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, Mr. Cohen?

The SPEAKER. Will the Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, Mr. Cohen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. HART. Mr. Speaker, may I ask if it is the intention of the Committee on Appropriations to investigate the University of Pittsburgh or other state institutions to find out as to whether or not they are living up to the requirements of the law?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Philadelphia I might state that it is the intention of the Committee on Appropriations to investigate as it has done in the past all the institutions which are receiving appropriations from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. However, I might state to the gentleman from Philadelphia and for the benefit of the membership of the House that it is not the intention of the Committee on Appropriations to make a thorough and rigid investigation of the policies of the institutions as I understand this resolution requires, so as Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations I thought that it was decidedly better that the expression of the membership of the House should be obtained prior to such an investigation.

Mr. HART. Mr. Speaker, in view of the answer of the Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations I feel that it is the duty of the Committee on Appropriations to make an investigation of this institution to find out whether or not this institution is meeting the requirements of the law.

I feel that the proper method of procedure in this case is to postpone any action on this resolution until such time as the Committee on Appropriations has made a report to this House.

MOTION TO POSTPONE

Mr. HART. Mr. Speaker, I move that this resolution be postponed until such time as the Committee on Appropriations has made its investigation.

The motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like to caution the members debating this resolution that if they are not careful the Chair will not be the only one in the House to suffer from laryngitis.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. TURNER, Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, the Speaker of this House has been in this House ever since I have, and he should know and take cognizance of the fact that the gentleman from Delaware never suffers from laryngitis. Also by way of confession and avoidance I should say to the Speaker that I think in justice to the gentleman from Delaware that he should say to the House that the gentleman from Delaware has terminal facilities.

Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Eberharter.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Eberharter, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, may I ask Mr. Eberharter if I am to understand that it is his purpose in this resolution to have the Committee on Appropriations investigate the University of Pittsburgh to determine whether the appropriations of the state are spent in accordance with the law?

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, the purpose of the resolution as stated in the resolution is that the Speaker shall appoint a committee of five, all of whom shall be members of the Committee on Appropriations in order that they may investigate the attitude of the University of Pittsburgh, ascertain the truth or falsity of the charges, and clear up the mater so that there will not be so many objections to this House making appropriations to that University, whether the charges are sustained or not sustained.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, may I ask if it is the gentleman's intention by this resolution that this Committee shall investigate the question of policies of the University pertaining to its teaching and its hiring and firing of teachers?

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, that is not stated in the resolution.

Mr. TURNER. But, Mr. Speaker, may I ask if that is the gentleman's intent?

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, the only intention I have, I may say for the information of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, is that which I stated in the resolution,—and I think the resolution states the purpose very plainly.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, in the resolution on page two, it says, "Fully, fairly and impartially inquire into and investigate the attitude of the Board of Trusees and those in charge of the University of Pittsburgh toward members of the faculty and student-body who both inside and outside the class-rooms advocate liberal views." That is therefore a question of policy, is it not?

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, I do not believe that the question can be answered categorically yes or no.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, all right then, will the gentleman explain it?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Nagel, will state his point of order.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, I ask whether this is a process of interrogation or a process of conversation?

The SPEAKER. The Chair is unable to state.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I will terminate my interrogation; I think the matter speaks for itself.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I do not want to detain the House any longer, although I do believe this is a very important question of policy on the part of the legislature that may have a great effect in the future. I am sorry that the gentleman from Allegheny in his remarks on the subject speaks as though the Republicans were opposed to this resolution and that the Democrats seemed to be for it. I hope this is not true; I hope we are not going to approach this matter as Republicans and Democrats, it is too important; it goes far too deeply into the government of the State for us to approach it in that way.

We have a Department of Education and we have a State Council of Education, and it is the duty of that State Council of Education to see that these universities in so far as their curriculum and their expenditures are concerned obey the law and carry out the provisions of the laws of Pennsylvania. As far as our appropriations are concerned I believe it is a part of the duty of the Department of Public Instruction and also the Auditor-General's office to see that they carry out the proper expenditure of the money to be appropriated.

I conceive it to be the duty of the Committee on Appropriation,—it always has been in my time,—to call Universities in and go over their financial structure and to hear their requests for their budget. I conceive that to be proper. And again I say to you that I believe the worst thing we can possibly do is to inquire into the policies of these educational institutions.

Mr. SUMNEY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, like my friend from Washington, Dr. Hindman, I am one of the alumni of Pitt, and we of our years of course belong to the older and more conservative group, and we know very well the animus back of this resolution; irrespective of who is its author we know full well exactly why it is offered, and I like Dr. Hindman will certainly vote against it.

Mr. CAPUTO. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am not going to take very much of your time because the hour is very late and we have a heavy calendar. I want to call your attention to the fact that I am an alumnus of the University of Pittsburgh, and my heart aches every time I pick up the newspaper and read that Dr. Bowman is a reactionary, to use an academic term, and that the University of Pittsburgh is a place where liberals have no place.

I as an alumnus of the University of Pittsburgh am anxious to have this investigation for the purpose of clearing up this situation.

Recently The American Association of University Professors conducted an investigation into the affairs of the University of Pittsburgh behind closed doors, and they saw fit to publish a report of that invesigation which is an insult to the City of Pittsburgh and an insult to the University of Pittsburgh, and therefore as an alumnus of the University of Pittsburgh I plead with you members to vote for this resolution so that we may bring out on the surface of things the real truth behind the policies of Dr. Bowman.

I am also, as Dr. Hindman said a moment ago, an admirer of Dr. Bowman, I think he is a great force for good in education, not only in Pittsburgh but in Western Pennsylvania, and I therefore ask the members here, for the purpose of bringing to the surface the attitude of the University, and the attitude of the professors on academic freedom, that we have this investigation. We need it, and the alumni of the University want this investigation, not for the purpose of preventing an appropriation but for the very purpose of seeing to it that the appropriations are made.

Therefore, I ask you to vote for the resolution.

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am not a member of the alumni of the University of Pittsburgh. I graduated from the university of Hard Knocks, and from the public schools of Luzerne County.

I like Mr. Turner, think this resolution would open the door to something that this House does not want, and if this investigation would go on and they found out certain things that the members from Lackawanna know, they might lose a million or so of appropriations for institutions, and I feel that every member here that represents a district, a city or a county, wants to get all the appropriations he can for his own institutions in his district.

As a member of the Committee on Appropriations for four terms I can say that we investigated these different institutions which we had a right to investigate, and we found the University of Pittsburgh one of the finest institutions that we ever had the pleasure of investigating and I found Dr. Bowman to be unquesionably a high type gentleman.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Eberharter, will state his point of order.

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not confining himself to the resolution. The question before the House is not as to the character or ability of Dr. Bowman or any other member of the University faculty or Board of Trustees. The question is on the resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has already ruled that neither Dr. Bowman nor any other instructor is on trial here and the Chair would like the speakers to confine themselves more closely to the resolution.

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, during the four investigations the Committee on Appropriations had on the University of Pittsburgh while I was a member, I want to show you why I think that the University of Pittsburgh is one of the most democratic institutions that we ever investigated. They have out there,—and the members from Pittsburgh will follow me up,—every nationality in Pittsburgh has the manhood and has the civic pride to dig down in their jeans and furnish a room in that magnificant Hall of Knowledge that you have out there, the Welsh, the Irish, the Italians, the Germans, have all contributed to make that thing the great big institution that it is.

I have an institution in my own district, some people call it sectarian. I have introduce a bill on behalf of that institution, and I do not want this legislature coming up there and telling me that they are not going to give that institution any state funds.

I am telling you that if this resolution is passed and if the Committee goes out there, and if I were a member of the faculty out there I would tell that committee to go to hell and I would tell them to stick that appropriation in the Susquehanna River.

Mr. FURMAN. Mr. Speaker, the motion that I am going to propose is submitted for two reasons, on account of the heavy calendar that we have, in order that the members might get home, and secondly to prevent further cases of laryngitis I now move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by Messrs. Schwab, Cannon, Walker, Coolahan, Stank, Harmuth, Falkenstein, McDermott, Powers, John E. Brown, Schrope, Hirsch, Zappala, Holstrom, Alexander, Kilroy, J. J. Baker, McHenry, Mooney, Sarraf, Scanlon and others.

On the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. JONES and Mr. KANE.

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS TO HON. JOHN H. DENT

Mr. NOTHNAGLE offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and unanimously adopted:

In the House of Representatives, March 14, 1935.

Whereas, A matter that should have been taken up on Monday of importance to the major side of the House, but being held in sub-committee was not released until this morning, and

Whereas, The rockbound solidity of this section of the House withholds even a Dent, and

Whereas, We his friends, do not want to see opportunity pass to wish John Dent many happy returns on this his twenty-seventh birthday, therefore be it

Resolved, If the Minority side of the House concur, that we go on record wishing the baby Member a long and useful life in helping the law, and if he so decides at a later date to read the law.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Mr. EROE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 480, Printer's No. 164, on page 17 of today's calendar, bill on final passage postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Eroe.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 480, entitled:

An Act authorizing receivers and collectors to demand from tenants payment of delinquent taxes due on real estate and enabling tenants to defalcate taxes so paid against rent due or becoming due; and making tenants liable for such taxes where rent is paid and payment of taxes demanded not made.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BAINE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lawrence, Mr. Eroe.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lawrence permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EROE. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. BAINE. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Lawrence kindly inform this Assembly the purpose of this bill?

Mr. EROE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill is to relieve the tenant from considerable embrassment from tax collectors levying on his furniture in a house where the landlord is delinquent in his taxes. It provides on written notice from the collector of these taxes that the rent shall be paid to the tax collector until the taxes are paid and a receipt from the tax collector to the tenant defalcates th taxes from being collected by the landlord. This bill applies only to the tax in the hands of the tax collector and not to any liens for taxes filed.

Mr. BAINE. Mr. Speaker, if this bill were enacted into law would it in any way create a double liability on the tenant? Would the landlord have a case against him as to the rent also?

Mr. EROE. Mr. Speaker, in answer to that question I would say that I have been reliably informed by men well learned in the law that it would not.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1156, entitled:

An Act creating and establishing a fund for the care maintenance and relief of aged retired and disabled employes of the Bureau of Police in cities of the second class providing a pension fund for said employes and providing for the payment of certain dues fees assessments fines and appropriations thereto regulating membership therein creating a Board for the management thereof providing the amount mode and manner of payment to beneficiaries thereof and for the care and disposition of said fund providing for the payment into this fund by cities of the second class of all monies heretofore payable into any other funds organizations corporations or associations having the same or similar purposes and of such additional monies as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this Act

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. JOHN J. BAKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Cities for the purpose of a hearing and amendment.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 671, entitled:

An Act to amend sections three thousand five hundred and thirty and three thousand five hundred and forty of the act approved the twenty-third day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 932), entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class; and amending, revising and consolidating the law relating thereto," providing for the acquisition of competing water companies operating wholly without the city limits; and authorizing a city to extend its water pipes or supply water in territory outside the boundaries of said city.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the sponsor of this bill to explain its provisions.

Mr. GEORGE E. DOWNEY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the bill, I rather think, explains itself. It just permits cities of the third class to acquire suburban water companies and extend their pipes beyond the city limits. This is an amendment to the code of third class cities, which now requires them to be partially within and partially without the city before they can be acquired.

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, would this permit municipally owned plants to compete with private corporations in the supplying of water?

Mr. GEORGE E. DOWNEY. Mr. Speaker, it would permit them to acquire privately owned water companies.

On the question recurring,

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 871, as follows:

An Act providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation of persons property and subjects of taxation for county city of the second class borough township school and poor purposes in counties of the second class and abolishing the existing board for the assessment and revision of taxes and the department of assessors in cities of the second class and the city assessor in cities of the third class in such counties

The first section was read and agreed to as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in each county of the second class there is hereby created a board to be designated as the board for the assessment and revision of taxes composed of seven persons citizens of the county The members of such board shall be appointed by the county commissioners of such county and shall hold their office for the term of four years from the first Monday of January one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six and the county commissioners shall fill all vacancies in the board for the unexpired term thereof Each member of such board shall receive a salary which shall be fixed by the salary board payable monthly out of the treasury of the county

Section 2 It shall be the duty of the board for the assessment and revision of taxes in each county of the second class to make and to have supervision of the making of all assessments and valuations of property whether real or personal taxable under any general special or local law for county or city purposes and of all lists of residents and inhabitants as required by existing law and shall prepare and cause the publications or notices hereinafter directed to be made

Section 3 The said board shall divide the county into convenient districts and shall appoint one subordinate assessor for each of said districts The subordinate assessors shall receive such compensation as the salary board shall fix The board shall have the right to appoint such clerks as the salary board of the county may allow for the proper discharge of the duties of said board All salaries herein provided for shall be fixed by the salary board and all such salaries and all other expenses in connection with the making of assessments under the provisions of this act shall be paid out of the county treasury

Section 4 The subordinate assessors shall make the assessment and valuations of all property taxable under any general special or local law for county and city purposes together with a list of all persons within their respective districts as provided by existing law and in so doing shall view all property in their district taxable for such purposes and in cities of the second class shall classify all real estate in such cities in such manner and upon such testimony as may be adduced before them so as to distinguish between the buildings on land and the land exclusive of the buildings The subordinate assessors shall make a personal house-to-house canvass of their district in order that such lists of persons may be accurate and correct in so far as it is possible to so make them All such assessors who shall fail to make such assessments and lists in the manner as herein provided shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars and in default of the payment of such fine and costs to undergo an imprisonment not exceeding ninety days

sessments of property and occupations each year preceding the triennial assessment in such counties and shall file the same with the board for the assessment and revision of taxes on or before the first Monday of November of such year

Section 6 The board shall as provided by this act and by the provisions of existing law examine and revise the said assessments and valuations increasing or decreasing the same as in their judgment may seem proper and shall add thereto such property or subjects of taxation as may have been omitted After such revision the board shall by rule fix convenient times for the hearing of appeals from said assessments and valuations and after the hearing of said appeals and the making of whatever changes may be considered proper the valuations as so ascertained and revised unless changed in the manner hereinafter provided or as provided by existing law shall stand as the valuations for the assessments of all county city borough township school and poor taxes until the next triennial assessment

Section 7 When the triennial assessments shall be fixed either for the whole county or in districts thereof notice of that fact shall be given by publication of a list of all owners of real property showing the street number and street name if any the size of the lot assessed valuation of land and improvements thereon if any in one newspaper of general circulation as defined by the Newspaper Advertising Act of May sixteenth one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws one thousand seven hundred eighty-four) published in the city borough or township wherein such real property is located and if there be no such newspaper then by publication in a newspaper defined as aforesaid published within the county and circulating within the city borough or township and also in the legal newspaper in the county if any Said publication shall state the time when appeals will be heard and also give notice that copy of the assessments made in any borough or township shall be placed in a particular public place in each such borough or township by the assessor After the hearing of appeals the board shall take such action in regard thereto as may be right and proper

Section 8 After action on such assessments by the board for the assessment and revision of taxes any taxpayer dissatisfied with the assessment on his property may within sixty days after the board has held the appeals provided for by this act appeal therefrom to the court of common pleas of the said county as provided by existing law and it shall be the duty of the court at once to hear and determine said appeal and if necessary to make such changes therein as may be right and proper

Section 9 The subordinate assessors shall between the triennial assessments revise any assessments or valuation according to right and equity by correcting errors and by adding thereto any property or subjects of taxation which may have been omitted or any new property or subjects of taxation which may have come into being since the last triennial assessment In each such case the subordinate assessors shall in cities of the second class classify all real estate in such cities in such manner and upon such testimony as may be adduced before them so as to distinguish between the buildings on land and the land exclusive of the buildings

They shall also add thereto the names of any persons who may have moved into such district and strike therefrom the names of any person who have removed from such districts since the last triennial assessment

The assessors shall also revise assessments and valuations between the triennial assessments by increasing or decreasing the same where the value of the property or subjects of taxation assessed or valued has changed by reason of any change of conditions thereon or adjacent thereto or in the vicinity thereof or for the reason that the property assessed or valued has been subdivided or laid out into a plan of lots or other subdivisions or for the reason that improvements have been placed thereon or added thereto or for the reason that any public or other improvement has been made adjacent thereto or in the vicinity thereof or where for any other reason whatsoever the value of the property has changed and it seems to the board necessary and equitable to make a change in the valuation thereof The assessors shall also between the triennial assessments in all cases where it is apparent that any assessment is not in accord with the generality or uniform standard of assessments revise and correct the same by increasing or decreasing the same where the value of the property or subjects of taxation assessed do not conform to the generality or uniform standard of assessments Provided however That if such revision or correction of such assessment shall increase the amount thereof the owner of such subjects of taxation whose assessment has been so increased between the triennial assessments shall be given at least ten days' written notice of such revision or correction and have the right of appeal to the court of common pleas in the same manner provided in section ten of this act

All assessments required to be made by the subordinate assessors in the years between the triennial assessment shall be returned to the board for the assessment and revision of taxes not later than the first Monday of November of the year preceding the one for which it is made and the same notice by publication in newspapers of such assessments shall be made as required and directed for the triennial assessments

Section 10 At least ten days' written notice shall be given to any taxable person whose assessment shall be changed between triennial assessments setting forth any change which has been made and the time and place set for hearing objections thereto

Such notice shall be served by the board or any member thereof or by any subordinate assessor or by any other person authorized so to do by the board upon said taxable person if he or she can be found in the county or upon an adult person residing upon the property in question in case the taxable person cannot be found in the county

When no service is made upon the taxable person or upon an adult person residing upon the property assessed said notice shall be deemed to have been properly served if tacked or conspiculously posted upon the property assessed

No defect in service of any such notice shall be sufficient ground for setting aside any assessment so made but upon proof thereof being made the taxable person shall have the right to a rehearing before said board relative to said assessment and to appeal therefrom to the court of common pleas as hereinafter provided

Section 11 After the hearing of any objection thereto and the making of any changes that may be deemed proper the valuation as so ascertained shall unless changed in the manner herein provided or as provided by existing law stand as the valuations for the assessments for county city borough township school and poor taxes in such county until the next triennial assessment

Section 12 Any taxable person dissatisfied with changes made in any assessment in the years between the triennial may within thirty days after the final fixing of the same appeal to the court of common pleas of said county and it shall be the duty of the court at once to hear and determine said appeal and if necessary make such changes therein as may be right and proper

Section 13 No appeal taken from any such assessments shall affect the validity of any taxes assessed but if such assessment shall thereafter be reduced an exoneration shall be granted or restitution ordered for the excess of taxes paid by reason of any improper increase in the assessment

Section 14 Upon request by any taxpayer he shall at any time receive from the board a statement of his taxable property and its valuation

Section 15 When the said valuations and assessments have been made all taxation for county city borough township school and poor purposes within the limits of such county shall be based upon such valuations and the board for the assessment and revision of taxes shall certify to the councils of all cities in the county the aggregate valuation of city property in each of such cities subject to taxation for city purposes

Section 16 On the first Monday of January one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six the terms of all members of the board for the assessment and revision of taxes and of all subordinate assessors and clerks employed by the board in counties of the second class and of all members and employes of the department of assessors in cities of the second class and the city assessor in cities of the third class in such counties shall cease and terminate and the board for the assessment and revision of taxes as now constituted in counties of the second class and the department of assessors in cities of the second class and the office of city assessor in cities of the third class in such counties are hereby abolished It is the intent and meaning of this act that in counties of the second class there shall be but one assessment made for taxation purposes and that all county city borough township school and poor taxes shall be levied on the basis of such assessment

Section 17 The provisions of this act shall be severable and if any of the provisions shall be held to be unconstitutional such decision shall not affect the validity of any of the remaining provisions of this act It is hereby declared as the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provision not been included therein

Section 18 Except where inconsistent therewith this act does not repeal any of the provisions of the act approved the twenty-second day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred fifty-three) entitled "An act relating to taxation designating the subjects property and persons subject to and exempt from taxation for all local purposes providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation of persons property and subjects of taxation for county purposes and for the use of those municipal and quasi-municipal corporations which levy their taxes on county assessments and valuations amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto and repealing existing laws"

Section 19 The act approved the twenty-second day of July one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws one thousand ninety-three) entitled "An act creating in counties having a population of from eight hundren thousand to one million five hundred thousand a board for the assessment and revision of taxes providing for the appointment of the members of such board by the county commissioners fixing their salaries payable by the county defining the powers and duties of such board and regulating the assessment of property and occupations for State and county purposes authorizing the appointment of subordinate assessors and clerks defining their duties and providing for their compensation payable by such counties imposing a penalty on subordinate assessors for failure to comply with certain provisions of this act and abolishing the office of ward borough and township assessor in so far as respects the assessment of property and occupations for State and county purposes" and its amendments are hereby repealed

Section 20 Except as to the appointment of the members of the board for the assessment and revision of taxes which may be done at any time after the final enactment of this act the provisions thereof shall become effective on the first Monday of January one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six Provided That this act shall not affect assessments made under existing laws as the basis of city taxes for the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six and such laws shall remain in force as long as may be necessary for such purpose

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. McDEVITT. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

STATEMENT BY MR. SOWERS

Mr. SOWERS asked and obtained unanimous consent to make the following statement:

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I asked Mr. B. D. Oliensis, an attorney of Philadelphia, for an opinion on graduated inheritance taxes and graduated income taxes, and I have his opinion here. I do not want to read it, but I do ask permission to have it inserted in today's proceedings and then the members will have an opportunity to read it.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the opinion will be spread upon the Journal.

The Chair hears none.

IN RE CONSTITUTIONALITY OF GRADUATED SUCCESSION TAX AND GRADUATED INCOME TAX

As to a graduated succession tax. I am of the opinion that a graduated impost upon estates would be constitutional. The right to transmit property, by will or under the intestacy laws, is strictly speaking not a property right, for death terminates ownership. It is only permitted by the grace of the State. The State may, therefore, if it chooses, retain such a portion of the decedent's estate as it deems fit and permit the remainder to pass on. This was indicated by our Supreme Court, though in somewhat guarded language. in

Knowles's Estate, 295 Pa. 571, where Moschzisker, C. J., 15 said on p. 589:—

"Perhaps the distinction made by the court below, in disposing of Cope's Estate, supra, between the Act of 1897, as one avowedly taxing property, and the act now before us, as one taxing the right of succession as distinguished from the property itself (Wagner's Est., 295 Pa. 419, 422) is a valid and controlling one, for the right to take under a will or by inheritance is a privilege, and , in Knisely v. Cotterel, 196 Pa. 614 (a later case), we in effect decided that the part of the Constitution here insisted on did not govern the taxation of privileges."

Indeed, a careful reading of the Opinion of Chief Justice Sterrett in COPE'S ESTATE, 191 Pa. 1 (p. 19), wherein the Act of 1897, which exempted estates to the extent of $5,000.00 was declared invalid as contravening the uniformity clause (Article 9, Section 1) of our Constitution, will readily show that the decision was largely predicated upon the fact that the Act specifically designated the impost as a "tax:"

"As to the character of the act, there cannot be any doubt. That it is an act imposing taxes on the personal property therein specified is too plain for discussion. To hold otherwise would be a perversion of the plain meaning of the words employed in entitling the act and specifying its provisions. As we have seen its title declares it to be, "An act taxing gifts, legacies," etc., and providing for the collection thereof. Section sixteen declares that it shall be "known as the Direct Inheritance Tax Law." The "personal property" specified in the act is, in express words, "made subject to the tax," etc.: section 1. * * * * * * * * * *

Having thus seen that the act in question is essentially and avowedly a "tax law," imposing a state tax on certain specified personal property, and providing for the collection thereof, let us briefly inquire whether it offends against the fundamental principles of taxation, or the provisions of our constitution relating thereto."

It would thus seem that the specific designation of the impost as a "tax" was the controlling factor. Such a situation is by no means novel in our law. It has recurred in TITUSVILLE v. GAHAN, 34 Sup. 613, where a license charge imposed upon theatres and bill posters, which could readily have passed the constitutional gauntlet as a police regulation pure and simple, was declared unconstitutional because it was designated in the borough ordinance as a tax and revenue raising measure (vide Opinion of Rice, P. J., ibid. pp. 622-3).

I am, therefore, of the opinion that if an Act providing for a graduated impost upon estates is drawn in such a manner as to avoid any reference to the measure as "a tax," it would be constitutional.

As to a graduated income tax. The proposition here involved is somewhat more difficult and complicated. Our earlier decisions have frowned upon such measures as contrary to the uniformity provision of our State Constitution. The modern trend, however, seems to be running in a more liberal direction. An income tax would unwould not necessarily prevent it from being classified and doubtedly be viewed as a tax upon property, but that graduated on the basis of the amount involved. Thus our Supreme Court as early as KNISELY v. COTTEREL, 196 Pa. 614 ruled (ibid. pp. 627-8) that a sales tax, even if it should be regarded as a property tax, may be "graduated and classified by the amount and method of the sales."

Moreover, within the last few years, our Supreme Court has adopted as a basis for legitimate tax classification, the test laid down by the Supreme Court of the United States under the "equal protection" clause of the 14th Amendment of the Federal Constitution; and held that as long as the distinction upon which the classification is predicated "bears a reasonable and just relation to the act in respect to which the classification is proposed," it satisfies the "tax uniformity" requirement of our Constitution just as it does the "equal protection" requirement of the 14th Amendment of the Constitution of the United States: Com. v. Girard Insurance Co., 305, Pa. 558, p. 562 et seq.; Com. v. Lukens, 312 Pa. 220, p. 223 et seq.

It would thus follow that, since classification of income tax, in permitting deductions etc., was held proper under the equal protection clause of the Federal Constitution (vide Atlantic etc. Co. v. Daughton, 262 U. S. 413), it might well be argued that by the same token it would likewise be proper under the tax uniformity clause of our State Constitution. It would certainly be a logical position to take at all events that a classification of incomes on the basis of the amount and extent thereof "bears a reasonable and just relation to the act (the taxation) in respect to which the classification is proposed," thus fully meeting the requisite constitutional test as now recognized by both the Supreme Court of the United States and our own Supreme Court.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

RESOLUTION No. 88.

"In the House of Representatives, March 14, 1935.

Whereas, At each session of the Legislature controversy arises as to the maximum permissible sizes and weights of commercial motor vehicles and the registration fees imposed against them, and

Whereas, It is the desire of the State through proper regulation to conserve public safety, to avoid undue damage to the highways and to impose on such vehicles only such registration fees as are properly chargeable against them, and

Whereas, The trucking industry contends that under existing laws and regulations the public is safeguarded, the highways are not damaged by their operations, the registration fees are adequate and greater than the average of th surrounding states and that more severe restriction as to demensional limitations or further increase in registration fees would result only in increased costs of their services to the public and unjustifiable injuries to them without compensating benefits, and

Whereas, The basic facts in connection with this controversy are really determinable both from financial and engineering standpoints, therefor be it

Resolved, That a joint commission to consist of three members of the Senate and three members of the House of Representatives be appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, and Speaker of the House respectively, to investigate the facts in connection with the maximum permissible size and weights of commercial motor vehicles and the registration fees that properly should be charged and to report their findings to the next session of the Legislature; the commission to function in consultation with the State Highway Department, the Department of Revenue and the Federal Bureau of Public Roads and to call in such outside experts and consultants as are deemed necessary.

Resolved, That by legislation an appropriation be provided for the use of the committee.

RESOLUTION No. 89.

In the House of Representatives, March 14, 1935.

Whereas, At each Session of the Legislature controversy arises as to the highways, roads and streets that properly should be incorporated into the State Highway System; and

Whereas, The same controversy arises as to bridges, viaducts and other structures incident to the said system; and

Whereas, The policies of changing administrations have been such that no long range planning of the said system has been possible; and

Whereas, This frequent change of basic plan has resulted in many cases in inconsistent and uncordinated development; and

Whereas, The question as to the fundamental principles under which cities, townships, boroughs and counties participate have never been properly determined; and

Whereas, Proper and economically sound methods of financing the State Highway System, including the determination as to what proportion of costs should be borne by motorists and what proportion by general funds, have never been finally settled; and

Whereas, Studies of the financing and physical development of the State Highway System have already been made in several states under the auspices of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads, which Bureau is prepared to defray a large proportion of the expenses incident to such an investigation; therefore, be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That a commission of three members of the Senate and three members of the House be appointed by the President Pro Tempore and Speaker respectively, and in connection with the State Highway Department and the Federal Bureau of Public Roads and such other expert consultants as they choose to engage, investigate the financial and physical development of the State Highway System to the end that:

1. A long range plan of highway development may be formulated:

2. Proper determination be made of the economic types of construction to be used for the various classification of roads;

3. A determination be made as to those highways, roads and streets which properly should be incorporated in the State Highway System;

4. The responsibility of the State Highway Department be fixed as to bridges, viaducts, grade crossings and incidental structures;

5. There be determined proper city, township and county participation in the funds available to the State Highway Department;

6. Financial determination be made as to the proportion of the costs of the State Highway System which should be borne by motorists and the proportion that should be taken from the general funds of the State and its political subdivisions;

7. There be developed a long range plan of construction and financing that would carry the above plan into effect.

Resolved, That by legislation an appropriation be provided for the use of said committee.

Messrs. DENT and LOVETT RESOLUTION No. 90.

In the House of Representatives, March 14, 1935.

Whereas, we have in the State of Pennsylvania, a State owned and controlled system of liquor buying and selling, and

Whereas, this system does not give the same right to all distillers in the Commonwealth in the placing of their products in these State Stores, and

Whereas, these small distilleries (operating entirely in the State of Pennsylvania) pay the same proportionate amount of taxes to the Commonwealth, and

Whereas, these small distilleries are being smothered out of existence because of the inability to place their products in the Stores with an equal chance of display and sale, and

Whereas, these small distilleries are important contributors to the Commonwealth and especially so to the communities in which they operate, therefore be it

Resolved, that the Liquor Control Board be instructed to send out circular letters to the effect that any Pennsylvania concern distilling whiskies etc., be given the right and privilege of placing in any liquor store the products of said concern when such liquor is requested by local consumers and be it further

Resolved, that said products be placed on sale by the bottle as well as by the case and that these products be placed on display along with other products of other concerns and that the prices of these products by the bottle be placed where the consumers can examine said price lists.

Referred to the Committee on Law and Order.

SENATE

MONDAY, March 18, 1935.

The Senate met at 9 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Thomas Kennedy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. William E. Howard, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Give unto us, O God, a true comprehension of Thy greatness and our insignificance. What physical powers we possess are drawn from the great reservoir of Thy power. Any mental insight of which we may boast comes as a reflection of Thy divine mind. Even our ability to love and suffer is an endowment inherited by us from our Heavenly Father. Make us humble, obedient children of such a Father.

May we so exercise the gifts of body, mind and soul bestowed upon us by Thy beneficence as to honor Thy name and glorify Thy majesty.

When decisions are to be made affecting the welfare of our citizens, may these men who bear the responsibilities of State seek the guidance of the God who was the inspiration of the leaders and lawgivers of ancient days.

We would tonight remember in our prayer the member of this body who was today suddenly stricken with illness. Watch over him during the hours of this night, to comfort and to strengthen him so that he may speedily resume his place among his colleagues.

We ask these things for Thy name's sake. Amen.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO SPECIAL COMMITTEE TO SELECT MEASURE ON SUBJECT OF ABATING PENALTIES AND INTEREST ON DELINQUENT TAXES

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read as follows and referred to the Committee on Judiciary General:

In the House of Representatives, March 12, 1935.

Whereas, A number of bills have been introduced in the House and Senate having a single purpose—to provide for the abatement of penalties and interest, in whole or in part, on delinquent taxes if these delinquent taxes are paid; and

Whereas, Taxpayers should be encouraged to pay their taxes in order that government may function, and legislation should be adopted at the earliest possible time to spur delinquent taxpayers to use every effort possible to pay their taxes; and

Whereas, Bills have passed the Senate and repose in House committees, bills have passed the House and repose in Senate committees, others are on the calendar and still others are in committee awaiting committee action; and

Whereas, It is apparent that confusion exists not only between the House and Senate as to the proper measure to be adopted, but as well among members of the same House in passing more than one bill to accomplish substantially the same object; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the Speaker appoint three Members of the House, and the Senate appoint three Members of the Senate, who together shall constitute a special committee, whose duty it shall be to draft a new bill or select an introduced bill, either House or Senate, which in its present or an amended form the committee deems to be a proper measure on the subject of abating penalties and interest on delinquent taxes, and to make report thereof to the Senate and House of Representatives as early as possible.

AMENDMENT TO HOUSE BILL NO. 120 RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented for concurrence bill of the House of Representatives, as follows:

House Bill No. 120, entitled:

An Act to amend section one thousand two hundred and two of the act, approved the fourth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven (P. L. 519), entitled "General Borough Act," authorizing boroughs to acquire and operate inclined plane passenger transportation facilities and bus feeder lines in connection therewith.

Said bill having been recalled from the Governor for amendment, the vote had on final passage and third reading were reconsidered in the House and the bill amended, in which amendments the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Said amendment having been printed as required by the Constitution, were twice read as follows:

REDUCTION OF TAXES IN SECOND CLASS TOWNSHIPS

Mr. THOMPSON (Centre) offered the folowing resolution, which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Highways.

Whereas, Under existing law the township supervisors in towpships of the second class will be required to fix the annual tax levies for road and street purposes for their respective townships for the year 1935 on or before March 25, 1935, and

Whereas, It appears that sufficient time may not remain to enact suitable legislation before the said date to allocate to the townships the unencumbered balance of funds appropriated to the Department of Highways for expenditure in townships of the second class under the provisions of the Parkinson Act, approved June 3, 1933, P. L. 1920, and

Whereas, It is the intention of the General Assembly to enact such legislation in order to secure to the owners of real estate relief from the burden of taxation; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the House of Pepresentatives concur), That the General Assembly hereby authorizes and requests the township supervisors in all townships of the second class to reduce road tax levies for the year 1935, if any are to be made, as compared to the 1932 road tax levies, in the approximate amount of the allocation of funds to be made to them for expenditure in 1935 as herein set forth; the General Assembly hereby declares its purpose forthwith to enact suitable legislation to provide for the allocation and payment to the various townships of the second class for expenditure for general road and bridge purposes of the unencumbered balance as of April 1, 1935, of the funds allocated by the Department of Highways for expenditure under the terms of the above cited Parkinson Act, exclusive of the sum of $2,365,000 heretofore transferred to the General Fund for relief purposes; the amount of such allocation to be approximately $4,400,000; the allocation of such funds to the various townships of the second class to be made on the basis of the number of miles of Township Roads in each township bears in proportion to the total mileage of Township Roads in all townships of the second class and shall provide for payment of the funds so allocated in three equal installments on June 15th, September 15th and December 15th, 1935; such payment to be made only to townships which reduce their 1935 tax levy in accordance with the intent of this resolution; and to provide further that townships which levied no tax in 1932 shall receive an allocation on the basis of $50 per mile of public highway under the jurisdiction of such township, and that the Courts, in order to effectuate the tax relief intended by this legislation, may make appropriate changes in any agreements which have been made and approved under the provisions of existing laws for the maintenance and construction of township roads by taxpayers.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO THE EXPEDITIOUS CONDUCT OF BUSINESS IN THE SENATE

Mr. PYTKO offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, March 18, 1935.

Whereas, It is generally conceded that the most dignified and sedate deliverative body in this Commonwealth is the senior branch of our State's General Assembly, and

Whereas, The atmosphere of gentlemanly decorum which permeated the Senate Chamber through decades of deliberation has been dispelled by neither the flight of time nor changes in personnel constituting its membership, and

Whereas, The gilded brilliance of the traditional aureole by which the Senate Chamber was graced in reflecting the interchange of usual Senatorial courtesies among its members in the past, is now in grave danger of being superseded by Stygian clouds, born of disgust and nurtured by discontent, and

Whereas, It should be the sincere desire of all whose great fortune it is to be numbered among the membership of the Senate now in session to aid in the maintenance of the customary serenity of its deliberation by adhering to established tradition held holy, and

Whereas, It is the consensus of opinion, nevertheless, that only those traditional precepts should be deemed Sacrosanct which have their origin in purity of purpose and honesty of design, therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the Senate of Pennsylvania, now in session assembled, as true representatives of the will of the people of this Commonwealth, do hereby, individually and collectively and without regard to party inclination, solemnly dedicate themselves henceforward to discharge their duties in accordance with the tangibly expressed wishes of the vast majority of the electorate of our State; that in the discharge of said duties they shall henceforward allow themselves to be motivated solely by inuences inspired by a profound sense of moral consciousness rather than submit to promptings predicated on political expediency and seek exculpation for flaunting the will of the people in the all too-flexible permissiveness of legal technicalities.

Mr. PYTKO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires that resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, unless the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Pytko, will explain in detail the meaning of all those words, I shall have to object to the immediate consideration of this resolution.

Mr. PYTKO. Mr. President, if there is any portion of that resolution which is not understood by any member of this body, I shall be glad to explain that portion.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I object.

Mr. PYTKO. Mr. President, the resolution speaks for itself. I believe every member of this body understood its portent. I am of the opinion that the resolution, if adopted, may have a tendency to inspire the membership of this body to proceed with the business of a deliberative and representative body, and in accordance with the expressed wishes of the people of this Commonwealth. I know of no reason why any Senator here present should object to that resolution.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I object.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PYTKO and Mr. FREY and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—17

Baumer,	Law,	Rankin,	Rodgers,
Cavalcante,	McCreesh,	Reed,	Rupp,
Frey,	McGinnis,	(Washington)	Thompson,
Kahle,	Prince,	Rice,	(Centre)

So the question was determined in the negative.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution will be referred, under the rules, to the Committee on State Government.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. BENNETT offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 18, 1935.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday evening, March 25, at nine o'clock; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday evening, March 25, at nine o'clock.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

RESOLUTION REQUESTING TAX DATA FROM THE SECRETARY OF REVENUE

Mr. COYNE offered the following resolution, which was twice read, as follows:

In the Senate, March 18, 1935.

Whereas, it is essential the General Assembly be in possession of available tax data so that its members may intelligently consider measures intended to produce additional revenue;

Therefore Be It Resolved by the Senate of Pennsylvania, That the Secretary of Revenue be requested to furnish to the Senate at the earliest possible moment the following information:

FIRST—The total amount of State and Local taxes paid by the manufacturing industry in Pennsylvania for the year 1932 and for the year 1933;

SECOND—The total amount of Federal taxes paid by the manufacturing industry in Pennsylvania for the year 1932 and for the year 1933 as shown by returns filed with the Secretary of Revenue;

THIRD—The total amount of rentals paid by the manufacturing industry in Pennsylvania for the year 1932 and for the year 1933;

FOURTH—The total net income or loss by the manufacturing industry in Pennsylvania for the year 1932 and for the year 1933;

FIFTH—The total value of the Capital Stock of the manufacturing industry in Pennsylvania, as appraised by the Department of Revenue, for the year 1932 and for the year 1933.

Mr. COYNE. Mr. President, I ask unanmious consent that Rule 39 which requires that concurrent resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee be suspended and that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. BAUMER. Mr. President. I object.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears objection. The Resolution will be referred to the Committee on Finance.

RESOLUTION MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO REJECT PROPOSED LEGISLATION CREATING A BRANCH BANKING SYSTEM

Mr. THOMPSON (Centre) offered the following resolution, which was twice read, and referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

In the Senate, March 18, 1935.

Whereas, There is now pending before the Congress of the United States certain proposed legislation vitally affecting the banking system in this country and

Whereas, Among other provisions of this legislation is a provision authorizing the creation of branch banks which experience has proven is not a wise policy in this country,

Resolved, That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to reject any proposed legislation creating a branch banking system,

Resolved, That a copy of this Resolution be transmitted to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States by the Chief Clerk of this Senate.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 147, on second reading, entitled:

An Act providing for the granting of pensions by the Commonwealth to blind persons destitute of the sense of seeing creating and imposing duties upon the Board of Blind Pensions in the Department of Internal Affairs and providing penalties be recommitted to the Committee on Pensions for the purpose of a hearing.

Mr. ARON. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I have asked the sponsor of the bill, and also the Senator from York, Mr. Lanius, and, of course, I thought they would agree to this; but they objected to this bill's being sent back for a hearing. Therefore, I have to appeal to the Senate to support the motion. The bill was reported out last week.

I wish to appeal to the Senate to support this motion because I hold in my hand a request from three associations, composed of very responsible people, who have appealed to me to have the bill recommitted for a hearing. These petitions are from the heads of various Associations for the Blind of the State of Pennsylvania. One is from the Secretary of the Pennsylvania Association for the Blind and one is from the Red Cross. I understand they have no objection to the purpose of the bill, but they want to be heard. I understand that they constitute a board, of which the Secretary of Internal Affairs is a member ex officio; and it does seem to me that the Senate might agree to this request for a hearing.

Mr. REED (Dauphin). Mr. President, I do not purpose discussing the merits of this bill, because I know that under the rules I am prevented from so doing, but I do want to state my reasons for opposing this motion.

Ordinarily, I believe, great latitude should be given in allowing those interested in legislation an opportunity to express their views, pro and con, in a public hearing; but in this instance we are simply following out, as I see it, a mandate of the people of Pennsylvania as expressed in a Constitutional Amendment, a Constitutional Amendment which was overwhelmingly approved by the people of the Commonwealth.

Section 18, of Article III of the Constitution, as amended on November 7, 1933, reads: "No appropriations, except for pensions or gratuities for military services, shall be made for charitable, educational or benevolent purposes * * *"

If it were not for that provision of the Constitution it might be a debatable question—would be a debatable question—whether or not the blind should be continued on the welfare, but here was a mandate of the people of the Commonwealth expressing their will that the blind of this Commonwealth should be placed under the same classification as pensions or gratuities for military services; and I believe, therefore, that when the people of the Commonwealth have spoken as they have it is no longer a question to decide what is wise legislative policy, and that a public hearing on this question could not add any weight, or should not add any weight, whatever.

And for this reason, presenting, as I have, a bill which is endorsed by the blind people of Pennsylvania, I oppose this motion to recommit it to the committee, and hope the Senate will adopt that view and keep it on the calendar for passage.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, at the last Special Session of the Senate in 1933 and 4, we passed a pension bill for the blind that provided they shall receive $30.00 a month. This bill does a little more than transfer the administration of that pension from one department to another; it increases the pension to the blind from $30.00 per month to $50.00 per month. This bill sets up, in my opinion, a very unscientific method of ascertaining the right of a person to receive a pension for the blind, because it provides, instead of, as in the old bill, that a person, to be eligible for the pension, shall not have sufficient means of his own,—this bill puts an arbitrary figure of $1200.00. Any person who has an income of $1200.00 cannot get any pension. I take it if he has an income of $1199.00 he may get a pension under this bill. If he has $5000.00 worth of property, under this bill he cannot get a pension; but if he has $4999.00 worth of property he can get a pension. To my mind that is a most unscientific and unsatisfactory way to determine whether a blind person has a right to receive a pension.

In addition to that this bill specifically provides—

Mr. REED (Dauphin). Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Dauphin, Mr. Reed, will state his point of order.

Mr. REED (Dauphin). Mr. President, the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, is discussing the bill, and the bill is not debatable.

The PRESIDENT. The point of order raised by the Senator from Dauphin, Mr. Reed, is well taken, and the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, will confine himself to the motion.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am stating my reasons for supporting the motion to recommit the bill. I am answering the Senator from Dauphin, Mr. Reed, when he says there is no reason for a public hearing; I am pointing out that by this bill the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania will find itself paying out $80.00 per month instead of $30.00 per month, and that is one of the reasons the bill should be recommitted. I take it I am speaking on the question before the Senate. The bill provides specifically that the Act of 1934 shall not be repealed. Therefore, we have two pension bills, one for $30.00 per month, the other for $50.00 per month; and I take it that no Senator is now going to vote to give a man $80.00 a month pension.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair reiterates that the point of order raised by the Senator from Dauphin, Mr. Reed is sustained.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. ARON. Mr. President, I do not intend to argue this bill on its merits or demerits; all we are asking for is a public hearing, and in my experience in the Senate we have never refused it. Therefore, I hope this motion mad by the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, will pass the Senate.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, as I understand the bill it means to give the blind man a pension that duly belongs to him, instead of giving him welfare. Is that right?

The PRESIDENT. As I understand, it transfers the administration of the fund from the Secretary of Welfare to the Secretary of Internal Affairs.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. LANIUS and Mr. ROBERTS and were as follows. viz:

CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES
House of Representatives
Washington, D. C.

March 12, 1935.

Rep. Marshall L. Shepard,
House of Representatives,
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

My dear Dr. Shepard:

Enclosed please find a copy of the Lundeen bill which you asked for in your telegram.

I hope and know you are giving the working people, that is to say, your people and my people, a break in Harrisburg.

After all it does not make much difference to you and to me, whether or not we return to our present offices two years hence, but it will make a lot of difference to our people back home whether we legislate or not in their favor.

With kind personal regards, I am,

Very truly yours,
(Signed) Michael J. Stack

MJS:JB

P. S. If there is anything by way of literature that I may be able to send you from down here, please call on me.

M. S.

The SPEAKER. The Communication will be noted in the Journal, printed in full in the Legislative Journal and referred to the Committee on Labor.

Mr. Wood asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. SPANGLER for the balance of the week on account of illness.

SPECIAL ORDER ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

The SPEAKER. The hour of 9.30 o'clock having arrived, the Chair lays before the House the Special order of business fixed for this hour.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 991, entitled:

An Act to further amend section five hundred two of the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred 'wenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws, one thousand five), entitled "An act relating to and regulating tractors and trailers and their operation; providing for their registration, and the licensing of certain operators by the Departpart of Revenue upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of tractors and trailers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities boroughs, incorporated towns, and townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of tractors and trailers; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation; and providing for refunds," by increasing certain registration fees.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the Bill pass finally?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the sponsor of the bill?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Franklin, Mr. Moomaw, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MOOMAW. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Franklin inform me if House Bill No. 991 is an amendment to the Motor Vehicle Code?

Mr. MOOMAW. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Philadelphia, I will say that that is an amendment to what is known as the Tractor code.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, does the Tractor Code provide for all the receipts under it to go into the Highway Fund?

Mr. MOOMAW. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Philadelphia, this entire tax program, it is my understanding, is for the general fund appropriation, and it can be used for general fund purposes. However, it is collected by the Department of Revenue.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman if he drafted this bill?

Mr. MOOMAW. Mr. Speaker, I did not.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman who gave him this bill?

Mr. MOOMAW. It is an administration measure, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman if he noticed in House Bill No. 839 the increase in gasoline tax, that on page five are the words, "The entire amount of the additional emergency tax of two cents per gallon or fractional part—"

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. PEARSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Pearson, will state his point of order.

Mr. PEARSON. Mr. Speaker, the interrogation of the gentleman is in regard to House Bill No. 839 while the bill before the House is House Bill No. 991.

The SPEAKER. The bill before the House is House Bill No. 991.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, instead of approaching the subject in the right way, I find it may be necessary to go backwards. Will the gentleman explain to the House why in House Bill No. 991 the paragraph that is inserted in House Bill No. 839 on page five is omitted?

Mr. MOOMAW. Mr. Speaker, to what paragraph is the gentleman from Philadelphia, referring?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I am referring to House Bill No. 839, Printer's No. 304, page five, section one, subparagraph (c).

Mr. MOOMAW. In answer, Mr. Speaker, to the gentleman from Philadelphia I will say that I did not have anything to do with the drafting of House Bill No. 839 and therefore I do not know at this moment what the contents of that bill are.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Franklin is it not the intention to raise revenue by House Bill No. 991 in order to raise some two hundred and three million dollars for the general fund?

Mr. MOOMAW. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman repeat the last part of his question?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, do I have permission to sub-divide the question?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, will sub-divide his question.

Mr. SOWERS. May I ask first, is it not the intention of House Bill No. 991 to raise revenue, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. MOOMAW. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Philadelphia, I will say that it is.

Mr. SOWERS. And is it not the intention, Mr. Speaker, to raise revenue so as to raise the amount of two hundred and three million dollars for the general fund?

Mr. MOOMAW. Mr. Speaker, it is a part of the revenue raising program.

Mr. SOWERS. Then, Mr. Speaker, in order to raise this part of the two hundred and three million dollars should this bill not contain a provision that the amount raised by it shall go into the general fund?

Mr. MOOMAW. That, Mr. Speaker, will no doubt be covered by a separate measure appropriating or affecting all of these various tax measures now up for consideration.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, may I ask, would the gentleman like to put the bill on the postponed calendar until that point is cleared up?

Mr. MOOMAW. Mr. Speaker, what is the purpose—

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I hear somebody who is not in trouble answering.

Mr. MOOMAW. May I ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, his purpose in suggesting that it be placed on the postponed calendar?

Mr. SOWERS. In order, Mr. Speaker, to clear up that mistake.

Mr. MOOMAW. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Philadelphia, I do not see where there is a mistake in this particular bill.

Mr. SOWERS. Well now, Mr. Speaker, let us see whether the gentleman and I understand each other. Should not the revenue as raised by the Tractor Code go into the Highway Fund?

Mr. MOOMAW. Mr. Speaker, in the past the revenue raised from licenses for trailers and for tractors has gone to the Department of Revenue for highway purposes.

Mr. SOWERS. For highway purposes.

Now, Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I was in darkness and have not yet been brought forth to light. I do not know how this bill is going to raise money, to help raise two hundred three million dollars when apparently whatever it raises goes into the highway fund.

Mr. Speaker, let us look at this bill on its merits. I assume that the sponsor of this bill believes that he is taxing trucks, that he is taxing tractors. When I hear this bill discussed in casual conversation, I gather that the people think it is taxing trucks. Now trucks pay no money; trucks neither collect nor expend,—trucks are operated by men, and when this bill becomes law, whose money does it take? It doesn't take trucks' money, but it takes men's money. It will take money from the farmer who transports his vegetables and the products of his farm to the city. It will put a burden on the inhabitants in the city, and no harder burden could be placed upon them than this bill places upon them.

This bill is like the processing tax on flour. It raises the price of commodities that go on the dinner table of the inhabitants. This bill is putting a tax on the poor.

This is not socking the poor, this is socking them and rocking them. My friends to the left here laugh when I say sock and rock the poor. Why, I heard the administration say, "Don't place a tax that socks the poor." And here you have one that clearly does so.

Now, Members of the House, this is a bill that taxes the men who are engaged in the transportation of the commodities of the country to the city and who transport the commodities of the city back to the country. This is a tax that is clearly upon labor; this is a tax that is placed upon those who can least afford to pay it. This is not a tax, as has been stated, that you would put on those who are best able to pay it. This is a tax on the little man back home who transports milk from the station to the warehouse; this is a tax on the little man who owns one or two trucks. This is not a tax on the great corporations. Eighty per cent of the trucks of Pennsylvania are individually owned. This is a state tax measure that could not be passed without coming back to plague each and every one of us. Why do you not propose a tax measure that is on profits and not a tax that is on industry?

This tax may take the last dollar of profit of the poor man who owns one truck; this tax may take every cent that he makes in one particular week or in one particular month. Why do you not have a tax on the profits from the trucks so that a man can pay from what he earns and not from what he owes? This will be a tax on what he owns and not on what he earns.

Just think of this program, a tax on gasoline, a tax on wheelbases, a license tax increase, a poundage tax and now this bill—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. CAPUTO. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Caputo, will state his point of order.

Mr. CAPUTO. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not talking on the particular bill under discussion.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will confine himself within a reasonable latitude in discussing House Bill No. 991.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, let me take up another thought. Let us inquire, is it necessary to put on the owners of these trucks and the owners of these trailers this additional burden on their industry? Has anyone shown to the House the necessity for raising this money? Has anyone shown to this House that the Governor cannot by economy and other proper procedure reduce the expenditures of this government and save the people? Has anybody by any logic, by any method shown the necessity of placing this burden on the people? Are there not salaries in this Commonwealth under this administration that can stand for a cut? Is it necessary to have counsel for the Public Service Commission at a salary of five thousand dollars when there are hundreds of lawyers just as good for that job at half the price?

Is there not an opportunity for this administration to pare down the expenses of this government and best serve the people? Has anyone yet shown the necessity for a measure of this kind?

Now, members of the House, I could go on ad infinitum pointing out errors in this bill, but until you can persuade yourselves that this money is going into the general fund, what is the need of discussing the merits of the bill?

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, it is with considerable hesitation that I rise to my feet to discuss this measure, because I believe the Administration and His Excellency the Governor are endeavoring to meet a situation that is a great problem. There are here in direct order four measures on the special order of business tonight, and we are discussing specifically House Bill No. 991, and there go with that bill House Bills Nos. 992, 969 and 970, and they are all interrelated, and they all have to do with taxation, additional burdens on the motor trucks of the State of Pennsylvania.

I believe that House Bills Nos. 991 and 992, as a part of this program and a part of these four measures as set forth purpose to raise seven million dollars towards this emergency fund.

These first two measures affect the farmer, and the farmer alone. They are two acts concerning the farmer, the farmer's tractor and his trailer, and so the burden set forth in House Bill No. 991 is directly upon the farmer, as well as House Bill No. 992 in decreasing the wage.

It is not effective, if you please, gentlemen, until the first of January nineteen thirty-six, and therefore cannot apply in this emergency for this year, and can apply only in half of the amount of seven million dollars for the second year, and loses therefore some of its effectiveness.

I believe this program in general affects but forty-one per cent of the trucking industry in the Commonwealth, rather than all of them. And then, as has been pointed out by the gentleman from Philadelphia, this bill as amended, as well as all the other bills bring this money directly into the motor fund and not into the emergency fund.

My friends on both sides of the House, this is a serious situation with which we are confronted. I think the romance of the motor industry is something that stirs the heart of every man in Pennsylvania because of the fact, if you please, that we stand pre-eminently above everyone else in what inventive genius has done, in making the motor industry in this country what it is today. Yet all these measures tend to throttle or tend to destroy within the bounds of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania the effectiveness of the motor industry and to set us backwards.

When the canals of Pennsylvania were built they were a step in progress. When the railroads took their place, my friends, then we did not legislate them out of existence, and now we should not burden this later industry to such an extent.

I believe, gentlemen, that the governor of this Commonwealth is sincerely and honestly trying to meet this situation, but is not this a challenge to us because of certain inequalities that it creates?

The maximum loads, as set forth in the laws of Pennsylvania, are consistent with those prescribed by the laws of all of the states that surround us, and with the exception of Ohio only we are lower generally than any of the other states? Therefore, all of this related legislation has been consistent with other states.

It has been testified, by the Hon. Thomas McDonald, Chief of the United States Bureau of Public Roads before the United States Senate, that the trucks in Pennsylvania were on the average, paying their proportionate share of taxes. So much for that.

This whole tax subject, my friends, is a challenge to us because there are some people who are in need of help and sustenance. This is a challenge beyond that of party, be it Republican or Democratic; this is a challenge to the whole House; this is a challenge to the whole state government and therefore it is with some hesitation that I have arisen because, I believe the effort of the administration has been an honest one, yet I must ask, are we proceeding in the right direction? Should we not save, should we not sacrifice in government against the need or against the possibility of having to raise this money by extra taxation, and might it not be possible that we do so? May we not approach this subject with His Excellency the Governor in some coherent way, that it may result in some plan whereby we may all march together to a successful conclusion of this effort, a meeting of this problem valiantly like true soldiers, trying to sacrifice and trying to save, our governmental affairs in the administration of relief, in the administration of our government?

There are those who are still able to pay taxes. The man that has bread when one in need knocks at his door, the fact that he has it and saved enables him to give of his bread to the man at the door, and therefore we must remember that there is a limit today beyond which a man able to give will be unable to give, unable to help, and then we may have revolt, we may have chaos.

Cannot Pennsylvania, my friends, rise up in this emergency and show to every state in the Union that we can meet this situation without this great burden of taxes? I mean these four bills tonight that are a part of this great plan.

I believe it is an honest effort on the part of the Chief Executive to meet this problem, but I believe at the same time that we can do something that will hurt ourselves so that we can meet it within the bounds of our income and our ability to live, within the means that we have, and not destroy this industry of motor trucking, but keep it where it is and at the point at which it has been made.

There is some romance in this industry. May Pennsylvania stand out in the final analysis when we are through with this whole program, gentleman, and be able to say proudly to the rest of the country, "We believe you have done the best you knew how in an emergency, but in this old Keystone, old Quaker state we can meet this situation without additional taxes." Therefore, members, let us weigh carefully these thoughts when we vote upon these four measures tonight.

In all humbleness I speak on this situation, in due deference to His Excellency the Governor; let us approach this whole subject with open minds and brave hearts.

Mr. FLINCHBAUGH. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, all tax measures are unpopular, and no one in this House votes for a tax measure more reluctantly than I do, but we are facing a situation that requires courage. We are facing not a theory, but a reality.

As every member of this House knows and practically every well-informed citizen of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania knows the Commonwealth is facing a deficit of fifty million dollars. Remarks have been made here tonight that we should cut on the expenses of government. The present administration has already cut on the expenses of government, and if every public employe in the state of Pennsylvania were dismissed tonight it would take three or four years in the saving of salaries of those employed to make up the deficit.

No matter what tax measure might be presented here, there would be objection. We have listened in the Ways and Means Committee and we have been solicited by many of our constituents to be against tax measures, but we have heard very little of the critical situation which the State of Pennsylvania, is facing today. There are millions of school children in the State of Pennsylvania, some of whom will be without schooling unless tax measures are passed and passed speedily. There are fifteen thousand widowed mothers caring for orphan children to the number of probably forty-five thousand who are looking tonight with longing eyes toward the General Assembly of Pennsylvania and asking that their relief shall not be curtailed.

There are millions of people upon the relief rolls. There are in the families of these people on the relief rolls possibly a million children who do not know their right hand from their left hand and who are dependent tonight upon the action of this General Assembly for the sustenance of their health, yea! for the preservation of their very lives.

There are thousands of blind tonight turning their sightless eyes towards the General Assembly, eyes that will never behold again the beauties of nature, nor shall ever look upon the face of their loved ones. All these people tonight are anxiously wondering what shall be the verdict of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania.

In view of the great need and the great stress throughout this Commonwealth I ask you to vote "aye" on this measure.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the gentleman who has just spoken has spoken of a deficit of fifty million dollars from the last administration, and he has followed that statement by an explanation that the present administration seeks to economize in state government.

The natural inference from following the two remarks in their order would leave the last administration without a proper explanation as to that deficit.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has within the past several years expended one hundred twenty millions of dollars for unemployment relief without any additional taxation. Money does not come from the air, and therefore it is only fair and just when we speak of the deficit that we speak of it as a deficit that was incurred in order to feed the hungry of Pennsylvania. Let us not talk about a deficit as though it were an improper accumulation of a deficit by a government. So much for that.

Certainly we have to raise money and certainly we have to feed those who must be fed, but raising money by the wrecking of business, raising money by the wrecking of industry, raising money by driving out of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania all good business is poor business for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and poor business for this Legislature, so if you are going to raise money, raise it, you of the majority of this House, assume the responsibility that has been placed upon you, but do not for God's sake reduce the revenue of our Commonwealth by wrecking every business enterprise within this Commonwealth and driving it out of the State of Pennsylvania into other states of the Union. That is not raising money to feed the poor. That is depriving the poor of the opportunity of keeping the money that we now get in taxation, and this bill—part of the administration program—ought to be defeated.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it was with a great deal of satisfaction that I heard the gentleman representing the minority agree with the gentleman from York, Mr. Flinchbaugh. It is not necessary to quibble as to just how this deficit of fifty million dollars was arrived at.

The gentleman of the minority attempts to justify that deficit of fifty million dollars as being due to the fact that the deficit accrued in an attempt to feed starving humanity. Why should the gentleman of the minority now find fault with the majority in their attempt to feed that same starving humanity without the necessity of resorting to a deficit?

They maintain that they spent one hundred twenty million dollars without any new taxation. We want to pay as we go. We have to increase the taxation in order to make those payments. You members realize that, the citizens of this Commonwealth realize it. Good business dictates that that is how it should be done. And still through the discussion of the entire tax program and the entire legislative program not one indication was given by the minority as to how that money to feed starving humanity could be raised without the necessity of new taxation.

In reality these measures which we have before us tonight are not imposing burdens upon an industry in the Commonwealth. These measures, of all the measures in the program, are the least offensive. These measures, of all the propositions that have been submitted, are the most justifiable. They attempt to impose on certain types of vehicles the same taxation that those vehicles would pay in a majority of the states in the Union. They attempt to impose on those types of vehicles whose registration fees are increased—the average—mark you, gentlemen, the average type, the average amount being imposed upon them, we are not placing a burden upon any industry in the Commonwealth. What we are doing is eradicating a favoritism that has existed; we are abolishing a preference, and we are doing that in order to raise the money to feed the poor and the needy.

The gentleman from Philadelphia objects that these bills do not contain a section which transfers the money from the Department of Highways into the General Fund. Let him rest assured that upon the completion and the passage of these measures his objections will be met,—will be met by a proper type of legislation on which we will ask him to give his vote and his aid.

Members of the House, I can recommend these bills to you as a justifiable enactment, as an attempt to eradicate from our laws a preference that has existed and that has crept in, and I further recommend them to you as a part of the only method that has been suggested to this House and to this Commonwealth to meet the problem with which we are confronted.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. Speaker, I am voting "aye" and I desire to file my reasons for doing so.

First, I feel there is urgent need for funds to properly carry on the functions of State Government, especially for relief.

Second, because of an assurance of amendment in the Senate.

Mr. HOLSTROM. Mr. Speaker, I am voting "aye" and I desire to file my reasons.

I am voting "aye" on the promise of the administration that proper amendments will be enacted when the bill reaches the Senate.

Mr. WESTRICK. Mr. Speaker, I am voting "aye" and I desire to file my reasons for so voting.

First, because of the dire need of funds to carry on by our State Government.

Second, because of assurance of a chance of inserting amendments in the Senate when this measure comes up in Committee.

Third, because of the urgent need of funds to meet our relief demands.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 970, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 905), entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances, and legal claims; registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation and providing for refunds," as amended, by revising certain registration fees and revising existing regulations for length, height, and weight of certain vehicles.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

EXTENDING SYMPATHY ON DEATH OF MRS. ADA MORRIS JAMES

Mr. ROAN offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and unanimously adopted:

In the House of Representatives, March 18, 1935.

The people of Wyoming Valley and many friends throughout the State, were shocked to learn of the sudden death early Saturday morning, March 16th, of Mrs. Ada Morris James, wife of Hon. Arthur H. James, and mother of one daughter and one son;

In her community she was a leader in civic and welfare work, being a trustee of the Plymouth Civic Club, sponsor of the Civic Club Chorus, director of the Luzerne County Council of Republican Women, and chairman of the Plymouth Unit of the Wilkes-Barre General Hospital Auxiliary;

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives extend to the family of Mrs. Ada Morris James, its deepest sympathy and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to them by the Chief Clerk of this House.

EXTENDING SYMPATHY ON DEATH OF PERCY W. BREWINGTON

Mr. O'NEILL offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and unanimously adopted:

In the House of Representatives, March 18, 1935.

Sudden death has again deprived this Commonwealth of another worthy and efficient public officer, and his family and numerous friends of the comfort and joy of his companionship.

While seated at his desk engaged in the performance of his public duties, Percy W. Brewington, a native and resident of Benton, Columbia County, and, for the past two years, United States Marshall for the Middle District of Pennsylvania, succumbed to a heart attack.

The deceased was a staunch supporter of President Roosevelt and his policies, and, as a delegate from Pennsylvania, supported the President at the Democratic National convention at Chicago.

In private life Mr. Brewington was a newspaper man and a prominent Elk, and enjoyed the fellowship of an extensive group of friends and acquaintances; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives, by the adoption of these resolutions, record its sorrow over the passing of Percy W. Brewington, and its sympathy for his family and many friends; and, be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this action of the House of Representatives be sent by the Chief Clerk to the members of the immediate family of Percy W. Brewington.
